"Taxi Cab Rules and Regulations"

Cabbie wants brakes slammed on restrictions

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - A local cab company owner has hailed the Board of Selectmen to say that he considers one of the town's Taxi cab Rules and Regulations to be "un-fare." In fact, he would like to see the particular guideline be given a ride out of town.

Wilmington resident Tim Flynn, who owns Wilmington Taxi Services on Woburn Street, sat before the board at their meeting on Monday, April 10 and asked them to remove from the "rules and regs" a section that places residency restrictions on cab drivers and company owners.

The controversial guideline can be found in Part B of Section I of the Rules and Regulations. It reads: "A taxicab owner is defined as the individual who, in fact, owns the firm under which trade name he or she is doing business or the bona fide agent of a corporation. A taxicab owner or manager shall be a resident of Wilmington. The location of the firm shall conform to the Zoning By-Laws. All taxicabs shall be registered from Wilmington. No taxicab owner shall operate more than five taxicabs."

It's the "shall be a resident of Wilmington" part of the guideline that Flynn finds too constricting and unfair.

"It's an outdated and silly regulation," said Flynn.

Flynn reminded the Selectmen that the community of Wilmington does not place such residency restrictions on its own town officials. He also mentioned that Wilmington is the only town in the area to enforce such a regulation.

Selectmen Dan Wandell asked Flynn, "Are you a resident of Wilmington?"

"I have to be," Flynn answered, underscoring his point.

Selectmen James J. Rooney seemed to appreciate where Flynn was coming from.

"These rules and regulations were adopted in 1969," began Rooney. "Perhaps they are a bit obsolete."

Rooney suggested that the document should be studied by Town Manager Michael Caira and his department heads to see if revisions should be made. He further

TV, computer disposals under new guidelines

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - When your TV set has aired its final show, it can no longer be channeled into any local landfills. The same goes for that outdated computer that you bought barely a year ago.

On April 1, the Department of Environmental Protection enacted a ban on the disposal of cathode ray tubes (CRTs) at all state waste facilities. CRTs are those helpful glass tubes in televisions and computer monitors and arcade games that protect viewers and net-surfers and joystick handlers from radiation exposure.

According to Brooke Nash, the Recycling Branch Chief of the DEP, the CRT ban is in step with the bans that have been placed on such other bulky and potentially hazardous items as tires and car batteries.

Don Onusseit, the Superintendent of the Department of Public Works, has assured the Board of Selectmen that Wilmington residents will still have an effective means by which they can get rid of such unwanted items.

"The DPW will accept these items from Wilmington residents with absolutely no charge to them," says Onusseit.

Specifically, residents can bring their CRTs to the Department of Public Works at 135 Andover Street on Mondays through Fridays, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Furthermore, the DPW will hold a Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day on Saturday, May 6 at the Swain

Sons of Italy Lodge

Gift to fire department a lifesaver

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Remember "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," that golden oldie by the Platters? Well, the Wilmington Sons of Italy have presented the Fire Department with a check that will allow firefighters a chance to use a technologically-advanced camera that won't get smoke in its eyes.

Michele Nortonen, the President of the Sons of Italy Lodge, presented Selectmen Chairman Robert J. Cain with a check for $33,000 that would allow for the purchase of two Thermal Imaging Devices. The check, which Cain accepted with a grateful handshake, was offered during the April 10 Board of Selectmen meeting.

Gerald Pupa, the Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Sons of Italy, and Kevin Caira, the First Assistant Vice President of the Lodge, attended the meeting with Nortonen. Chief Daniel Stewart was also present at the meeting to offer gratitude on behalf of his fire department.

The Wilmington Sons of Italy has offered many gifts to the town throughout the years. A handicap-accessible van for the Elderly Affairs Department and the electronic scoreboard at the high school football field are two recent examples. In light of the tragedy that befell six Worcester firefighters in a warehouse blaze last December, the organization strongly felt that this time the two imaging cameras were a timely and appropriate gift that could save lives.

Said Nortonen to Chief Stewart, "Once you have these cameras installed, it is our hope that you will never have to use them."

This is some camera. The Eagle Imager, as it is called, can detect temperature differences to one-tenth of a degree, a quality that allows firefighters to see the distinguished outline of human forms in areas paralyzed with black smoke and bright flames. Notable hot spots and trapped victims can be located as close as two feet away or as far as 600 feet away.

An efficiently-sized adjustable screen affixed to the camera can be adjusted to accommodate firefighters when they are standing, crawling, or even peering around a corner. Such a component allows firefighters to better assess a situation of its danger.

One of the cameras was brought to the Selectmen meeting, where it was set up and attached to a small television monitor.

Dick Murphy, the General Manager of Industrial Protection Services, Inc. in Wilmington, mesmerized the Board of Selectmen and its audience with a short demonstration of his company's heat-seeking technology.

At one point, Murphy turned off the lights in the room and physically provided two examples of the Fire Department's new tool.

First, he placed his hand on the table where Nortonen, Pupa, Caira and Chief Stewart were seated. When he removed it, the imprint of his palm and fingers, which would be fairly invisible to the human eye, appeared on the TV monitor with a vivid glow.

Secondly, Murphy went across the room and hid behind the Selectmen's table, which had a blue skirt draped around it. Sure enough, the white-hot image of Murphy crouching behind Selectman Dan Wandell's chair appeared clearly on the monitor.

"Say you have a child lost in the woods," said Murphy as an example. "If you had one of these

Police issue house break alert

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Police Department are warning resident to be on the alert.

Due to an increase in house breaks in the North Wilmington area, police are requesting residents in the area to be especially observant.

"They get in and get out" said Wilmington Police Inspector Pat King. "They go right for the master bedroom, and take items that can fit in their pockets" stressed King.

Police are continuing to investigate the breaks, and would like any suspicious activity to be reported to the police department immediatel (dial 911).

Accreditation Visit

School awaits results

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Students aren't the only ones who receive report cards.

In six to eight weeks Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell and Wilmington High School Principal Edward Woods will know for certain how everything went when the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) paid an Accreditation Visit to the high school two weeks ago. The visit began on Sunday, March 26 and concluded on Wednesday, March 29.

The NEASC is an organization comprised of teachers and administrators from other schools throughout New England. The various teams throughout the organization travel to high schools throughout the area and evaluate the schools' overall performances on many levels.

The NEASC accredits a school based on its evaluation of it. When the organization last visited Wilmington High School in 1990 it awarded the school its equivalent of an A-plus, which is a maximum accreditation lasting ten years.

Pat Schettini, the Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Natick who chaired the NEASC's visiting team, will meet with Woods to discuss with him a report of the team's findings from the visit. The report, which the NEASC calls its "Commendations and Recommendations," will cover analyses of the following

It's YOUR Money
by Joyce Brisbois

LAST-MINUTE OPPORTUNITIES

It's not too late to stash away retirement money from last year's income and, in many cases, get a tax deduction on the money, too. Thanks to an accident of the calendar, there are a couple of extra days this year—to April 17—before taxes are due and deadlines close. You can open an IRA through the 17th and make contributions until the due date of your return, including extensions. Ditto for a Roth IRA, though there's no deduction there.

Self employed? Though a Keogh account must have been opened before the end of last year, you can still add funds. Easier yet is a Simplified Employee Pension plan: one-page setup, with no further reports or tax fillings due, and funding is flexible. Set it up now, and you can contribute for 1999 up to tax-filing deadline. The SEP contribution can be as much as $24,000 for '99, $25,500 for this year. Adding a money-purchase defined contribution plan to the SEP ups the maximum to $30,000 but adds a lot of paperwork.

Quick! For the tax return you need—or the extension request that helps you breathe easier—see the tax professionals at

EPA earmarks $1.5 M for Rocco's dump

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - The environmental Protection Agency has received some funding for use in the immediate cleanup for Rocco's Dump.

The EPA has designated about 1.5 million towards cleanup in the area, but only a portion of that will be aimed at Tewksbury's site.

"About a half million is my best guess," said Gary Lipson, coordinator for the EPA. The funds will be used for the immediate cleanup of the contamination at the sites.

"There are two distinct EPA actions," Mr. Lipson said. He said that the two actions are the removal of drums and hazardous waste associated with them, and listing the site with the national superfund list.

There are three distinct areas where hazardous waste barrels have been uncovered since last summer: a composting area in Wilmington known as the "pumpkin patch" adjacent to the landfill, Rocco's landfill in Tewksbury, and an illegal dumping site at the end of McDonald Road in Wilmington.

"The current actions are not time critical. They are short-term actions involving the removal of immediate waste and drums just off the [dump] site," Mr. Lipson said.

There is a process that must be followed to list the site on the National Superfund list. Mr. Lipson said that the site is evaluated and then possibly listed this July. There will be a public comment period and then, if the site is deemed superfund status, the capping process will begin.

Mr. Lipson said that it is a long-term process to clean up the entire site and his involvement is strictly with the immediate removal actions currently in progress.

He said that if the site is deemed a superfund site, the cleanup process will be long-term. "Engineers must design cap and the ground water is monitored," he said.

"Wilmington has two sites," Mr. Lipson said. He said that the owner of the McDonald Road property hired a consultant and engineer to handle the cleanup and was under an order to do so.

"I'm not at liberty to say the number of responsible parties [we're checking]," Mr. Lipson said. He did say that they are using other avenues of investigation to obtain more information and that a few of the responsible parties that contributed to the landfill debris have already been identified.

"The investigation process in on-going," he said. Although Mr. Lipson would not disclose whether Tewksbury or Wilmington were listed among the "responsible parties," Tewksbury received a written notification from the EPA years ago.

"We were just down there a few days ago," said Greg Erickson, Director of Public Health in Wilmington. He said that he observed the EPA removing the hazardous waste barrels and the contaminated soils where the barrels were.

"It's not yet a superfund site. There is a hearing process and comment period first," Mr. Erickson said. He said that it was his understanding that the process would extend at least into the fall season.

"We were suspicious about the drums for a long time," Mr. Lipson said. "Finally someone came forward." He said that the site is now in the process of assessment for purposes of listing site.

Backyard Birding

A turkey vulture? Ya don't say!

by HUGH WIBERG

Where did the winter/early spring "birding" season go? Sure does seem like the older we get, the faster time flies by.

This will be my last column until we reconvene in September. It is time to shift our focus from watching the birds from our warm living room windows, to getting out there to turn the gardens over. This spring I have vowed to plant several rows of peas before the end of April, to be harvested by the Fourth of July.

The month of March brought several interesting phone calls, including the following: Barbara Westberg of Janet Avenue in Tewksbury sent along a photo of a rare light tan colored turkey, seen off and on with a flock of eight turkeys in her backyard. Nicknamed "blondie" by Barbara, this bird can be seen just above a typically colored, mostly black turkey, to the left of the accompanying photo. This rare coloration is referred to as "leucism," and results from occasional genetic scrambling. (Those of you who have my book "Hand Feeding Backyard Birds" can see another example of leucism, this time with a chickadee, on page 51.)

My friendly barber Joe Ryan of Charlotte Road in Wilmington called late in March to say he and his daughter saw a hawk land on and carry off what he thinks was a starling. Joe explained to his distressed daughter that, although seemingly cruel, this is one of nature's ways of controlling bird populations.

Mike Barcellos of Lauren Drive in Wilmington called on March 22 to report a "first" for him in Wilmington. He spotted two extremely large, black birds on a neighbor's roof, and thought at first that they must be bald eagles. He noticed that this pair did not have white heads though, and, as the birds took off, Mike estimated their wing spread at six feet. At six feet, these birds were more than twice the size of a large crow. A check of Mike's bird guide suggested to him that the birds were turkey vultures. (See pg. 161 in Peterson's Eastern Birds.)

Mike thought this huge scavenger was only seen several hundred miles south of New England and down to the Gulf States. In truth, turkey vultures, along with Carolina wrens and red bellied woodpeckers, have expanded their ranges northward recently, as far as central New Hampshire and Maine.

I recall seeing four vultures soaring high in the sky along the Connecticut River near White River Junction, Vt., about three autumns ago. On March 24, Tricia Coy of Lee Street in Wilmington called to say she saw what were probably these same turkey vultures in her neighborhood.

Serena Lanza of Hopkins Street in Wilmington called early in April to report a nesting owl about 60 feet up in a pine tree at the back of her property. I drove over to her yard, and was able get a fairly good look at a great horned owl, too far up in the tree to get a photo. Several days later Serena called to say there was evidence of two or three fledglings in the nest. These huge owls (stand two feet tall) were fairly common when I moved to Wilmington in 1961, but are rarely seen locally now, due to the encroachment of housing developments.

Last, but no means least, I received a wonderful letter recently from Val Borgal of Seventh Street in Tewksbury. Valerie was profuse in her thanks for my column, and asked if I will continue in the fall. I shall, Lord willing.). Val's favorite bird this winter was "her" single Carolina wren, the first time she had seen this recent immigrant from the south. Enclosed with Val's letter was a lovely poem she has written, entitled "The Wonders in My Backyard." We will include this poem with our first birding column in September.

I want to thank the many dozens of Wilmington and Tewksbury folks who took the time to contribute to this column this past winter. The great pleasure for me has been making new friends. (Isn't that what life is all about?)

Back in the fall.

"New Frontiers" evokes poetic responses

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Memorial Library's fourth annual poetry contest had a variety of interpretations of "New Frontiers." Thank you to the following judges who had the challenging task of selecting the winning poems:

Ann Buzzell, library trustee; Gena Weaver, library staff and Julie Sbraccia-Manos, Friends of the Library.

In the adult/high school category, the winning poem was written by Christine Blaisdell.

Motherhood at Mid Life

I set out down this road
Fourteen years ago,
Behind me, all my students,
Ahead, the rosy glow
Of pregnancy and motherhood
And all that lay in store
As first teacher - daily witness
Advocate for four.
I've watched them walk and run and fall
And need a stitch or two;
I've listened to them hope and dream
Of what they'd like to do.
Now, step by step. they inch away
In other teachers' care
While I stand on this threshold
With a purpose yet unclear.
Behold the possibilities,
Wrapped in mid-life fear,
To redefine my usefulness
On the road to who-knows-where.

There were no entries in the middle school category. The judges chose a first and second place winner in the fourth and fifth grade category. The first place winner was Kimberlie Rose Kelley who is in fifth grade at the Wildwood School.

Television

On the table side by side,
the Holy Bible and the TV guide
One is well worn but cherished with pride,
not the Bible, the TV guide
One is used daily to help them decide,
No, it's not the Bible, the TV guide
As pages are turned, what shall we see?
It doesn't matter, turn on the TV.
Confusion reigns, they can't all agree on what they Should watch on the old TV.
So, they opened the book in which they confided,
No, not the Bible, the TV guide.
The word of God is seldom read,
Maybe a verse as they fall into bed.
Exhausted and sleepy, as tired as can be,
Nor from reading the Bible, but from watching TV.
So, then back to the table, side by side,
The Holy Bible and the TV guide.
No time for prayer, no time for the word,
The plan of salvation is seldom heard, yet,
Forgiveness of sins, so full and so free,
Is found in the Bible, not on TV.

The second place winner in the fourth and fifth grade category was Michael Stewart, a fifth grade student at the Wildwood School.

When I Hiked Mt. Washington

A great adventure
Biggest mountain in New England
Climbed to the top
Dangerous at some points
Entertaining
Far above sea level
Gorgeous mountain
Hard to climb
Ice cold in winter
Jagged rocks
Killed careless hikers in winter
Lakes on the mountainside
Mountain views
Nature in the mountains
One exciting hike
Queer animals on the mountain
Really steep slopes
Scary heights
The best mountain I ever hiked.

In the elementary school K through third grade category, the winner was MacKenzie Rhae Harper, a first grade student at the Woburn Street School.

Open a Book

Open a book and open your mind
Read the words and you might find,
You ride a horse across the land
and look for crabs in the sand.
When you get back, put a smile on your face
Because now you can learn to paint a vase.
Chase a butterfly into a hole
and you might meet a very rude mole.
When you close the book and it ends,
Don't be sad, you can do it again.

The following received an honorable mention for their poems:

In the adult/high school category, Cindy Maynard.

In the fourth/fifth grade category, Caitlin Crowley, a fifth grade student at the Woburn Street School and Taryn Martiniello, a fifth grade student at the Wildwood School.

In the K to third grade category, Erin Baranow, a second grade student at the Shawsheen School and Melissa Mahoney, a third grade student at the Shawsheen School.

All the winners and those who received honorable mention are invited to read their poem at the Coffee House Poetry Reading, Wednesday, April 26, at 7 p.m. at the library. Prizes and certificates will be awarded and the Friend's Hospitality Committee will provide refreshments. Everyone is welcome to this event to honor the poetry winners and read or listen to poetry in celebration of National Poetry Month. If you entered the contest, come and read the poem you wrote or any favorite poem!

Concom reviews

Lowell St. business and houses continued, garage denied

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - To be continued was mostly the order of the evening at the Conservation Commission meeting. Many of the applications were missing important pieces of information that the Commission needed to determine their actions.

The proposed 16 x 36' garage on Veranda Ave. received a negative determination for their application for a Request for Determination of Applicability. The lot is in close proximity to Lubbers Brook, but it is grandfathered even though it is considered riverfront zoning. The Commission determined that the new structure would be allowed.

140 Lowell Street was continued to May 5th. "We purchased the building and property. We cleaned up the property, removed the sheds and two of the three greenhouses," said John Mullen, President of Kaknes Wood Products. The property is the former site of Maple Meadow Garden Center.

"I went there about six weeks ago," John Keeley, Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation said. He advised them to file an application for a RDA because the work will be in the buffer zone of a riverfront property, the property is in a flood plane and there will be displacement of flood storage. He also said that he observed debris that would need to be removed.

The proposal is to clean up the property, remove three sheds, and reinstall new fencing around the property. They will also be placing haybales around the edge of the work zone to prevent erosion into the river. The new owners will use organic fertilizer and the one remaining greenhouse will be used intermittently.

The Commission still had concerns about flooding, clean up work, property lines and plot plan. They scheduled a site visit and will discuss their findings at the next scheduled hearing.

The new single family dwelling proposed for Swain Road was continued to April 19th. The proposal for the dwelling will be within forty-five feet from existing wetlands and have their septic system installed fifty feet from the wetlands.

Greg Saab, the engineer representing the applicant, said that the plan is to tear down the existing building and replace it with a new dwelling.

"There is a lot of debris and trash in the area," said Mr. Keeley. "You will need to remove it by hand." He also said that there was an additional wetland area to the southeast of the property that wasn't shown on the plot plan.

The applicant will need to revise the plan and the wetland line will need to be verified before the next hearing date.

The Notice of Intent public hearing for the proposed new dwelling, septic and new roadway construction for Mary Street was continued until the May 3rd.

"It's a paper street with a forty-five foot right-of-way," said Craig Newhouse, applicant. He said that the house would be 45 feet from the wetlands, the septic about eighty-five feet and the driveway would be made of sand and stone. He also said the Planning Board continued their hearing on the proposal and the septic system hasn't been approved yet. There are still unresolved issues and the Commission chose to continue the hearing.

A proposal for a new dwelling on Tanner Road was continued. The project includes a new single family dwelling, sewage disposal system, grading and landscaping within 100 feet of a bordering vegetated wetland. The house will be set back at least seventy-five feet from the roadway.

"We will provide hay bales and a silt fence," said Matthew Hamor, Engineer for the project. "The septic system is sixty-two feet away from the nearest wetlands flag and the building is about twenty-six feet away." He said that the plans for the septic system were done previously and received approval from the Board of Health.

The Commission questioned the length of setback from the roadway and asked the engineer to think about moving it up to give the potential new residents a usable back yard and place for a deck, if desired. In addition, the Commission needed more information on a run-off drywell, wetland flags, proximity to wetlands, and proximity to abutters on the plan before they consider any actions.

The MBTA hearing has been continued to April 19th. The consulting firm the Commission hired, Meridian Engineering, has delayed the process with their untimely responses to questions and proposals.

Moore Street got approval for their new deck. The structure met the Commission's setback policy.

Buckingham Road was continued to the April 19th date as well. The wetland area needs to be rechecked.

New MBTA station will allow access for disabled, finally

Dear Editor:

About 20 years ago, representatives of the various regions making up the Commonwealth's disabled population met and consummated a legal action which came to be known as, "Laurence W. Curtis, et al vs. the MBTA." Eventually the MBTA was obliged to make their public trains and stations accessible to and usable by people with disabilities. All stations, even little Ballardvale, would have to become accessible.

As a member of the Paralyzed Veterans of America and as a Wilmington resident I was involved with the inspection of train stations as they were renovated. At first with the renovations at Lowell Station I could only access the entrance space between the old inaccessible cars and catch a breezy ride to Boston and back. Though unable to depart the train anywhere along the line I recall that first ride as "invigoratingly wonderful;" I also remember being dubbed," the man who never returned" after an old song about someone lost within the Boston subway system.

The construction going on in the Center today is in part the final leg of that lawsuit as it applies to the commuter trains through Wilmington. I ask those who are adversely effected by the ongoing project to look at it less as an abuse of progress and modernization and more as the realization of a right to liberty for those of us who are mobility impaired and who prior to this were not allowed to access public transportation from Wilmington.

Please accept and join in the spirit of our celebration for liberty and independence.

Sincerely,
Laurence W. Curtis

Non-group health insurance bill before legislature

BOSTON - State Representative James R. Miceli (D-Wilmington) has announced the legislature has engrossed a comprehensive non-group health insurance reform program, which will help make health coverage more obtainable to the 496,000 uninsured Massachusetts residents.

The House of Representatives passed these non-group insurance reforms with the primary goal of maintaining continuity in the health insurance marketplace.

House No. 4993 has recently engrossed in the Senate on March 30, 2000. This particular piece of legislation was a direct response by the legislature to accommodate the many concerns citizens of the Commonwealth have expressed in regard to the sharp increase in health care premiums and the future direction of the Mass. Health Care Delivery System.

Rep. Miceli said, "Health insurance is essential for very individual and family within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I am pleased that these reforms will increase the availability of nongroup health insurance within the state."

Local authors to read as part of Tech's "Reading Circle" program

BILLERICA - Two New England children's authors will read to preschoolers Friday, April 14 from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m. at Shawsheen Tech.

Burlington resident Marcia Murphy, author of The Twins and the Birthday Party, and Joe Scaglioni of Salem, N.H., author of My Lucky Penny, will join Shawsheen Tech high school readers who regularly hold "The Reading Circle" for area preschoolers, an innovation of teacher Marie Smith, to assist high school students with reading skills and provide a community service.

The authors' visit takes place during National Library Week, as well as the "Week of the Young Child," which Smith believes is a happy coincidence. She invites all area preschoolers and their parents to attend the program, whose theme is "Read Early, Read Often."

"I am delighted to be coming to read at Shawsheen," said Murphy, the sister of Donna Canfield, a Shawsheen Tech teacher who invited her to take part in the Reading Circle. Murphy, the mother of twins plus two other children, didn't think that having twins would be the impetus for writing a book. She entered a Twins Magazine contest, however, and her story which later became the basis of her book, took second place, and later attracted the attention of an illustrator. "I wrote the book because they're aren't a lot of twins books but there are a lot of twins," she added.

There will be door prizes, balloons and refreshments for those attending. To sign up, call either Smith (978) 667-2111 ext. 561, or direct 671-3561 or Canfield, (978) 667-2111, ext. 589 or direct 617-3589.

taught in the school.

• Instruction, which relates to how the materials of various subjects are taught to the students by the teachers.

• Assessment of Student Learning.

• Leadership, which focuses on not just the high school principal and the Office of the Superintendent, but also the paradigm with which decisions are made.

• School Resources for Learning, which goes beyond the resources that are available in the classrooms and the school library.

• Profile Development, which examines statistics that have been compiled about the school and the community.

To prepare for the visit, a team of Wilmington teachers and administrators and parents formed committees and conducted an 18-month self-examination to evaluate the high school's status in these seven areas. Prior to the team's arrival, the committees sent a narrative summary of their evaluations to the NEASC.

At one point the NEASC's report will be presented at a School Committee meeting and become a matter of public record.

During the four-day visit, members of the accreditation team met with 23 teachers to discuss the students' work. To supplement those discussions, team members even shadowed individual students, joining them in their classes and so on.

"Getting ready for the team's visit took a lot of work and preparation," says Woods, who was the school's Assistant Principal during the NEASC's 1990 visit. "When they came for their visit they evaluated everything from the floor to the ceiling and everything in between."

Adds Woods, "The team was very fair and very thorough. Their visit was a great experience."

Catherine Symonds, who is the English Department Head at the high school, joined Woods throughout the NEASC's stay. She agrees with him that the visit was a positive, helpful experience.

"It was very stimulating to talk to educators from other districts," says Symonds, who once served on an accreditation team that evaluated the high school in Medfield. "The people on these NEASC teams are people who are in the trenches, not people from the outside who are looking in. They visited our school, they made some suggestions, and they even walked away with a few ideas."

It seems that ideas aren't the only things that the NEASC evaluators took with them when they left that Wednesday. They also seemed to have left with the fine impression that Wilmington students show a lot of class.

"They loved our kids," Symonds says proudly. "They thought that we had the nicest kids in the world."

TV, computer disposals under new guidelines

School parking lot, which is situated opposite of the Town Common on Middlesex Avenue. They will begin at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 2 p.m.

There are details of reasons for the [illegible] regulations regarding electronics and computers. As explained by the Department of Environmental Protection, they are as follows:

• Given the quantities and various sizes in which such items are routinely disposed, remaining landfills throughout the state could become filled at an accelerated rate.

• Incineration of these items might not be safe to the public. Metals from the TVs and computers can be emitted into the air when melted in an incinerator.

• Recycle! Many charitable organizations would love to get their hands on your old 13-inch TV or antiquated PC. Also, a number of materials founds in the devices' CRTs can be recycled, as well.

• Plus, recycling equals jobs. The DEP maintains that each year the state throws out approximately 25,000 tons of CRT electronics. The recycling and repairing of such materials could create as many as 1,100 new jobs.

• Finally, the recycling of such electronics would reduce the need for the mining of copper, gold, silver, and lead. Given that, such important resources will be preserved, as well.

suggested that the board should examine the "rules and regs," as well.

Selectmen Michael McCoy asked Flynn how many licensed cabs he owns and how many rounds each one makes per week. Flynn responded by saying that he owns two licensed cabs that make an average of 40 to 50 rounds a week.

Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain agreed with Flynn that some changes in the guidelines might have to be made. He assured Flynn that the matter will be addressed again at the board's next meeting on April 24. Cain also told Flynn to feel free to approach the Selectmen at that meeting with other concerns that he has with the other guidelines in the Rules and Regulations.

Wilmington's Taxicab Rules and Regulations were last amended 16 years ago, on January 9, 1984.

Later in their meeting, the board voted unanimously to renew Flynn's taxi cab licenses and taxi cab driver's licenses.

Gift to Fire Dept. a lifesaver

Selectmen and its audience with a short demonstration of his company's heat-seeking technology.

At one point, Murphy turned off the lights in the room and physically provided two examples of the Fire Department's new tool.

First, he placed his hand on the table where Nortonen, Pupa, Caira and Chief Stewart were seated. When he removed it, the imprint of his palm and fingers, which would be fairly invisible to the human eye, appeared on the TV monitor with a vivid glow.

Secondly, Murphy went across the room and hid behind the Selectmen's table, which had a blue skirt draped around it. Sure enough, the white-hot image of Murphy crouching behind Selectman Dan Wandell's chair appeared clearly on the monitor.

"Say you have a child lost in the woods," said Murphy as an example. "If you had one of these thermal imaging cameras mounted on a fire department vehicle, the search team in the vehicle would see that child glow on their monitor like a Christmas bulb."

Answering a question from intrigued Selectman James Rooney, Murphy said that the thermal imaging camera can even grant firefighters a view of how much fuel remains in a propane tank that could be near a fire. The device can even single out overheated wires too.

It was decided that the two hand-held models of the camera would be a better gift to the Fire Department than the models that are mounted on helmets. It was determined that during a crisis situation it would be quicker and less of a hassle for firefighters to simply hand the cameras back and forth to each other than to remove helmets and pass them along.

Senator Bruce Tarr also attended the meeting and watched the demonstration. In fact, he even suggested a further use for the imaging devices beyond saving lives in Wilmington fires.

Believes in streamlining government and practicing smart growth

Mark Nelson, candidate for Wilmington selectman

WILMINGTON - Mark Nelson recently announced his candidacy for a three year term on the Wilmington Board of Selectmen.

As a lifelong resident, he has had the opportunity to witness first hand, the growth and development of Wilmington over the last 40 years. After graduating Wilmington High School in 1973, he went on to study Land Development Law while helping to raise his daughter Kristen (WHS Class of 2003). Mark has served on various committees over the years and annually submits articles for the warrant at Town Meeting.

As a seasoned candidate Mark brings a straight forward no nonsense approach and ability to address the real issues up front and head on. Always a stickler for information and details, he prides himself on getting accurate facts and presenting all concerned the best information available. His commitment to the community extends beyond developing (www.NLSN.net) a one-stop internet link to all of Wilmington's computer generated information, he has also petitioned the Annual Town Meeting with six Articles. Articles numbered 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, and 43 are designed to return more voter voice in the future direction of serious town issues and re-establish accountability at all levels of government. Mark does not accept financial contributions from anyone and runs a campaign that is not indebted to any special interest, particular group or individual. While staunchly opposing any new tax hikes or debt exclusions, Nelson believes streamlining government and practicing smart growth through proper planning could best serve the community.

Mark has always supported having the MBTA train station upgraded from the current arrangement. And believes he can mend the strained relationship that currently exists and negotiate a better plan than what is currently on record.

Environmental issues are always on top of the list of real issues. The Olin property needs the source removed immediately with mitigation measures implemented to minimize the growing plume that threatens our clean drinking water. Rocco's landfill and McDonald Road contamination will not go away on its own and deserves immediate attention at all levels. The residents of Kelley Hill deserve answers, why are the wells contaminated, where is it coming from and how do we remove the chemicals.

Smart growth through proper planning has never been more important. As a town, we need to complete a Master Plan immediately and go after State and Federal funds before they dry up. Adopt linkage-bylaws to mitigate the impact of neighboring town's development. Hire experienced planners to help better serve our immediate needs related to open space, recreation and parks, transportation and amending the town's bylaws to better control development.

Education, Mark has promised that if elected, he will immediately establish a fundraising group to help ease the cost of a new library on taxpayers. By soliciting the town's major corporations who have prospered in this community for years, Mark hopes to raise the funds needed to construct a state of the art facility.

Other issues that top his list of goals include developing an affordable housing program that works. Creating a not for profit group made up of local residents and developers to create our own housing program geared to prevent the mega developer from filing comprehensive permits under Chapter 774. Better protecting Wilmington's most valuable natural resource "Silver Lake." Establishing a land bank, creating a boys & girls club with a recreational resource center, the list goes on.

Make a difference and better your quality of life, get involved and give yourself a choice. Your vote for Mark will go a long way to protect your best interests. Mark is more than a part time figurehead on a policy making board, he will be a full time, hands-on, energetic representative presenting the voters and citizens of Wilmington the best choices available.

Mark can be reached at 694-9686 if you have any questions or concerns; or you can email him from the website at www.NLSN.net

NEARER THE MAKER

It often takes a life-altering event to remind US of what is most important in life. Such events as birth and death serve to show us that we are equal parts heaven and earth. Our spiritual side elevates us up from our earthly desires. As Gandhi once wrote, "Man is not all body but he is something infinitely higher. Of all the animal creation of God, man is the only animal who has been created in order that he may know his Maker. Man's aim in life is not therefore to add from day to day to his material prospects and his material possessions, but his dominant calling is from day to day to come nearer his own Maker."

Life is meant to be a celebration. How special and wise are those who find a reason to make every day a special one. At FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, 16 Lee Street, we believe a funeral is not so much about mourning a loss as it is about celebrating the life of someone we love. For assistance with preneed or current need funeral arrangements, call 851-7411. "Serving the Tewksbury Community Since 1878."

Strings Attached to perform in Paris

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - "Je suis Americain."

When the young musicians of Strings Attached say those very words - "I am American" - to the Mayor of Paris, the Honorable Benoite Taffin, in France this week, it will be spoken with a proud comprehension and a cultured accent.

In turn, Mayor Taffin will respond with "merci beaucoup" because the group of Wilmington eighth-to-twelfth graders will have likely just performed for her some stunning music from their orchestra.

Strings Attached, which local music teacher and director Ward Dilmore formed in 1987, is the single name for a string of student orchestras throughout the Wilmington school system. Specifically, there are three orchestras, one at the elementary school level, another on the middle school tier, and a third at the high school level.

This week, the high school orchestra is "en vacance" in Paris, where they will festively hurtle through an eight-day spree of fine cuisine, rich culture, an eyeful of sight-seeing, and, yes, fine musical performances - their own, in fact.

Not only will the musicians be performing a concert for the Mayor of Paris during their European stay, they will also be presenting to her a number of letters of warm greetings from Senators Edward M. Kennedy and John F. Kerry, State Representatives James R. Miceli and Charles A. Murphy, and Mayor of Boston Thomas M. Menino.

These letters, incidentally, also feature praise for Dilmore's teenaged orchestra that runs as high as the Eiffel Tower.

"These students have made great strides in the fields of music and culture and should be commended for their dedication and efforts," writes Senator Kerry.

Writes Representative Murphy, "It is my sincere hope that you will honor this group of fine young musicians with the key to your beautiful city."

Mayor Menino is locked in agreement with Representative Murphy, writing to the Parisian mayor that a key to her city would be a "gift both students, teachers, and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will greatly treasure for years to come."

Dilmore and his students were to touch down on French soil at nine on the morning of Wednesday, April 12 after an all-night flight. Along with the performance to be given for Mayor Taffin, the musicians will also enjoy visits to the historical castles and gardens of the city; dinners to be eaten everywhere from the Loire valley to the Hard Rock Cafe; a jaunt to the top of the Eiffel Tower; and a ride on a barge along the Seine River. Dilmore and his orchestra will return to Wilmington on the evening of Tuesday, April 18.

Dilmore and his students have done more to prepare for this trip than tune their instruments, rehearse many times a week, and pack their bags. Au contraire, they have been preparing for this trip for years.

"Before my students can go on a trip to perform overseas, they have to make it through a few steps," explains Dilmore. "Each year I take my fifth-to-eighth grade students to Lake George in New York, where they have an audition before Dr. Jay Blumenthal. He is a member of the New York Pops and the New York Ballet Orchestra, and he's also a friend of mine from college."

If the students excel in their audition with Dr. Blumenthal, they get to enjoy two days at Lake George that lead up to performances before two judges.

"We rent a boat on Lake George, and we have dinner on it and rehearse," says Dilmore. "Usually, I have 125 students with me and as many parents. It's a lot of fun."

Continues Dilmore, "We also take the students shopping in Lake George Village. We go to the Great Escape amusement park, as well. The students also stay overnight in a hotel, where they can learn to be responsible."

What about those performances before the two judges?

"The judges have certain criteria that the students have to meet before they can go on and become a part of the orchestra for grades eight through twelve," says Dilmore. "However, their performances for the judges are conducted in a way that is noncompetitive. I never put the kids in competition with themselves or with other students."

If the students excel, then they become a part of the high school orchestra. Once they become a part of the high school orchestra, they set their sights on performing in Europe. Over the years, Dilmore has taken his young musicians to such countries as England, where they received a key to the city of Huddersfield, and Italy, where they performed in Venice, Florence and Rome.

Now, of course, they're in Paris.

Says Dilmore, "My feeling is, if I'm going to take my students over to Europe for a week, then I want them to know how to get themselves into their own hotel rooms, to know what the rules are, and to behave in a way that is respectful to the country."

Adds Dilmore, "Also, before the students can take a trip to another country they must take lessons in that country's language, its history, its geography, its money, and so on."

For this particular trip, students took part in a multi-leveled program called "France 2000." Wilmington French teachers Marlene Ross, Joyce Beckwith and Jane Shepherd worked with students during night classes to help them develop necessary language skills. To show gratitude to the three teachers, Dilmore and his students invited them to accompany them on their trip.

Kate Conway, who is the principal at the Woburn Street School, and Suzanne Garfield, who is the principal at the West Intermediate School, were both instrumental in preparing the students for their "bon voyage," as well.

High School Nurse Norma Rushton also helped the students address the routine health concerns that all travelers face when they go abroad.

A website for Strings Attached has been designed by Matt Joyce. Joyce is updating the site every day, so anybody who wants to log on to the Net and follow in the young musicians' footsteps can surf over to http://members.aol.com/parisstrings/go.htm.

Concludes Dilmore, "Finally, before the students can go to another country, such as France in the year's case, they have to give a performance at the State House in Boston. The girls must wear their gowns, and the boys must wear their suits. This trip to the State House really gives them a lesson in democracy."

The trip to France itself, therefore, will undoubtedly give the gifted orchestra of Strings Attached a lesson in the "joie de vivre."

Fall to Masco and North Reading

Girls' Track falls short in both meets

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

To say that failing to emerge victorious in either of its meets against Masconomet or North Reading this week was anything but a disappointment for the Wilmington girls track and field team would not be true.

However, despite losing to Masconomet 81-60 and North Reading 74.5 - 70.5, the Wildcats had some impressive individual performances. Masconomet Last Wednesday the Wildcats took on one of the top teams in the Cape Ann League and held their own.

Leading the way for the Wildcats was junior Becky Rufo. Rufo took first place in the mile with a time of 5:52. Rufo was strong in the high jump finishing second with a jump of 4'8". She also took third in the triple jump with a distance of 28' 8".

Freshman Nicole Minghella was busy taking second place in the long jump (12'10") and helping the 4 x 100 team consisting of senior Kristin Kacamburas, freshman Jen Leone and freshman Ashley Veator finish first with a time of 56.7 seconds. The time was .7 seconds off from qualifying for states.

Kara Kane, assistant head coach said, "Minghella was a nice surprise."

Sophomore Denise Merry qualified for the states in the discuss with a throw of 88'7" and finished in first. Kacamburas took second place in the triple jump with a jump of 25'4".

Freshman Michelle Brush picked up where she left off in winter track taking first place in the two mile with a time of 12:30. Brush's time qualified her for the states. Also qualifying for the states was Kim Gillespie in the 400-meter dash with a first place finish and a time of 64.5. Senior Sarah Lund took second place in the javelin with throw of 72'8". In the pole vault senior Lynn Hurley qualified for the states at a height of 7'.

The 4 x 400 team also qualified for the states and took first place. Names of the runners and the time were unavailable.

The loss against Masconomet evened the Wildcats' record at 1-1. North Andover Rufo remained strong against North Andover in the high jump taking second place with a jump of 4'8". Gillespie and freshman Michaela Rufo tied for third at 4'6".

In the shotput, Lund finished in second place with a throw of 25'6". The throw was a two-foot improvement for Lund.

One of the bigger surprises of the meet came from sophomore Kirsten Pizzotti who in her first year on the team qualified for the states in the long jump with a leap of 15'7".

Said Kane, "That was a very big surprise."

In the discuss. Merry took first place with a throw 84'10" while in the triple jump Kacamburas finished in first (30'2") and Becky Rufo finished in third (29'2"). Becky Rufo took second in the mile with a time of 5:58.

Brush did not fair as well as normal in the two mile and still was able to hold on for second place. Brush finished with a time of 12:48.

Ashley Veator beat Jen Leone for second place in the 100-meter dash by .03 seconds. Veator finished with a time of 14.0 and Leone at 14.03, good enough for third place.

In the 400, Gillespie ran into first place with a time of 63.3. Sophomore Jen Gillis finished strong with a time of 68.9 and in third place. It is Gillis's first year on the team.

The 4 x 100 team of Minghella, Kacamburas, Leone and Veator sprinted into first with a solid time of 56.02. In the 800, Brush took second place (2:43) and Kristen Sauve finished third with a time of 2:48.

Then Wildcats swept the javelin with Lund (84'8") in first place, freshman Jenn Rogers (64'3") taking second and freshman Janessa Mutchler in third with a throw of 56' 5". In the pole vault, Lynn Hurley finished first at a height of 7'0" and Kacamburas in third at 6'0".

The loss to North Andover put the Wildcats a game under .500 at 1-2. But according to Kane things will get better.

Kane said, "I think as the season goes along we will get stronger and stronger."

The Wildcats' next contest is away at Newburyport on Wednesday. The meet begins at 3:30.

Calway enjoys big day in team's home opener

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Chris Calway made his presence known Monday against North Andover. Calway finished first in three events to lead the Wildcats (2-1) to a 109-36 victory.

"[Calway] was the star of the meet," said head coach Dana Sweet. "He did really well."

Calway too first place in the high jump with a jump of 5'4", first in the 300 hurdles with a time of 43.54 and first in the 440 meter run with a time of 54.69.

In the discus, Wilmington took the top three spots with led by Jaron Threshor (121'11"), who finished first. Rob Rogers (119'3 Ω") and David Merry (104'2") finished second and third respectively.

Bryan Mather took first place in the shotput with a throw of 41.7". Rogers finished in third with a distance of 41'2 Ω".

In the long jump, Matt Mingheila finished in first with a jump of 20'11".

In the pole vault Josh Hiltz (10'6") and Jim Rourke (10'0") finished first and second respectively.

Jay Gillis was the run away winner in the two-mile finishing in first with a time of 10:47. Nick Eaton finished in third with a time of 12:43.

In the 100 high hurdles, Mike Halas finished in first with a time of 17.43 and Steve Natoli in second with a time of 18.3.

Andy Myers beat teammate Jason Gustin in the mile for first place with a time for 5:09. Gustin took second place with a time of 5:12.

In the 4 x 110, the team of Minghella, Justin Cammaratta, Mark Jepson, and Hiltz finished in first place with a time of .46. In the 880, Rourke (2:11) finished in first while Anthony Tomasi finished in third with a time of 2:29.

Jepson added to his strong day by winning the 220 with a solid time of 23.74. Cammaratta finished in second with a time of 24.2.

Finally, the 4 x 400 team of McGinnis, Dipasquale, Gregg Monteiro and Gillis placed first.

"It was a solid team effort," said Sweet. "Our strength is we don't have one dominant star. We have 10-12 people who will score in each meet."

Kevin Skinner takes runners-up trophy

This time the setting was the K of C State Free Throw Championships held at Elms College in Chicopee. Kevin Skinner, representing the Wilmington Council Knights of Columbus in the Boys-10 group, again faced some outstanding competition from other areas of the state. Undaunted by the challenge, Kevin emerged as State Runner-up based on his solid 21 for 25 shooting. Another competitor who shot 24 out of 25, beat him out of the State Championship.

Kevin received the second place trophy in a ceremony held at the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield. Kevin deserves our congratulations as he improved his performance at each stage of the competition. That's the sign of a future Champion.

News and Notes

Final 4 winner

Wilmington's Matt Kacamburas was the winner in the 7th annual Town Crier/Rocco's Restaurant NCAA Final 4 Basketball contest. Steve Pazdziorko also of Wilmington was the runner-up winner. Kacamburas has won $100.00 worth of free catering service of Rocco's fine foods, while, Pazdziorko won four free movie passes.

Once again though neither of the winners, like the other previous winners, didn't have all four teams. Actually, both Matt and Steve had just one team – Michigan State." Twenty people had just Michigan State, so all names went into a fishbowl and Matt and Steven's names were selected. Steven's son Graham won a runner-up prize last year, as he won eventually what was two Red Sox tickets (suppose to be a free month of karate but the business went under).

Congratulations to both winners, and look in next week's edition for their smiling faces showing off their prizes.

Boston Marathon

As usual, the Town Crier sports department will give you readers as much information that you can handle on locals who'll be running in next week's Boston Marathon. Don't miss out.

Oh Henry! Look at the scoreboard

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

If you looked at the scoreboard after the seven inning softball game between Shawsheen and Bishop Fenwick was over on Friday, it's certainly an understanding why you looked at it over and over and over again.

One reason for the double take was a sign was leaned against the poles of the scoreboard. The sign read, "Buddy Who? We'll be back in '98". The other reason for the double-take of reading the scoreboard was for the score. Visitor's (Shawsheen) 4 - Bishop Fenwick 3.

Perhaps everyone knew who Buddy was then ... actually no one has ever forgotten the man who made winning at Bishop Fenwick come as often as Pedro Martinez makes it. For the record, Henry was the coach at Bishop Fenwick for 15 years, and oh yeah, those teams won eight Division 1 state titles, including seven in a row.

"I don't know why everyone's making a big deal out of it, I was barely over 500. I was there for 15 years and we had 8 state titles, big deal we were a little better than 500," he said with a big smirk.

And for the record, Fenwick hasn't done anything since Henry left after the '97 season, but they are picked to be one of the better teams in the entire state. Shawsheen is Division 3, two divisions lower than Fenwick. Should it actually come as a surprise to anyone that Henry and his Shawsheen team beat the much more powerful Fenwick squad on their home turf? Actually, yes.

"This is pretty sweet," said Henry after the 3-2 win. "I think all of us thought [before the game] that we were biting off more than we could chew. Fenwick is one of the best team's in the state. They just beat probably the best team in Central Mass in St. Peter of Marian, 5-3. I guess we snuck up and surprised them.

"Now we'll be on the top of the mountain and someone will be looking to knock us off of it. But it's nice to be at the top of the mountain, especially for these girls who have never been there."

Over the seven consecutive state titles, Henry did have a lot of great talent. Of course he did. But his way of taking opponents out of games early on, or even late in a tie game, is pretty incredible to watch. That happened a lot during those seven titles. It happened again on Friday.

This Shawsheen team does have some talent. Pitcher Flo Arsenault is the real deal. Sure Shawsheen has to improve on its defense, but if they play like they did on Friday, they'll be pretty hard to beat come state tournament time.

Today's game of high school softball was really started by Buddy Henry. He was the one who began the "short game" which is teaching the speedy kids to turnaround and bat lefty, start in the batter's box really deep, run up and slap at the ball while being half way down the line so they can beat out the ground ball.

So of course his old tricks that he started at Bishop Fenwick would naturally come back at the same Nikonchuk Field.

With the game tied at one in the top of the sixth inning with one out and the bases cleared, Henry was at it again. Wilmington native Erika Persson was up at bat and he had her bunt which some coaches don't do because there is no one on and one out. But they aren't Ed Henry. Anyway, Fenwick's third baseman Erin Lasquade fielded the bunt and threw the ball into right field. Persson utilized her speed, touched all of the bases, and slid home safely. That made it 2-1.

The next batter was Amy McAdoo of Billerica. She singled to left field. With one out and McAdoo at first with his best hitter up in Arsenault, Henry didn't stand pat. McAdoo swiped second base with ease, and then stole third base with ease. Arsenault singled to left for the game winning run.

Fenwick would strand a runner at third base in the home half of the sixth and Shawsheen went down in order in the top of the seventh. Before going to the bottom of the seventh, Henry got his troops together. "OK girls we are three outs away," he said. "If we do this it will be one hell of a bus ride home. Let's take a deep breath, and now let's focus. Every single one of you has to focus if we are going to do this. Let's go and do this."

Fenwick's lead-off hitter reached first on an infield single and then advanced to second on a wild pitch. The next batter also reached on an infield single to have runners at first and third and no outs. The next batter tried to bunt, but heads up pitching by Arsenault forced her to pop it up, and Wilmington native Kelly Gillis made the catch behind the plate for the first out.

With the score 4-2 and runners at the corners, everyone in the ballpark knew the runner from first would be trying to steal second (a questionable move on Fenwick's behalf). The question was, what should Shawsheen's catcher Kelly Gillis do with the ball? Throw to second? Throw it to shortstop trying to catch the runner from third off guard? Throw it back to the pitcher? Hold onto it?

Henry elected for the gutsy call, throwing it done to second. The result? Gillis threw her out the runner by three steps and the harmless run from third came in making it 3-2 with two outs and no one on. The throw could have easily gone into centerfield, and the tying run could have easily been at third base if not score, if that happened.

"I was surprised she sent the girl," said Henry. "Kelly was struggling throwing out runners in preseason. We have been working with her to throw from her knees, and she snapped off a quick throw right on target for a huge out. We'll let the run score and get the out - especially with Flo on the mound."

Fenwick didn't have a chance with Arsenault on the mound who got the last batter to ground out to begin the celebration.

So was that smart coaching on Henry's behalf, or not so bright coaching on Fenwick's behalf. A little bit of both.

Perhaps it was the sign that got the coach a little steemed.

"Not at all, that's been up there since I left," he said. "I still have a lot of friends here and all of them were giving me a hard time before this game. But it's great, there's a lot of great people [at Fenwick]."

Perhaps everyone at Nikonchuk Field should take another glance down the right field line. Oh yeah, it's the scoreboard.

Squirt E's provide exciting play

This was a big week for the Wilmington Squirt E's, having to win at least one of their final two games in order to make the playoffs. The Wildcats had Woburn on Wednesday night and North Middlesex on Saturday.

The Woburn game was played at home April 5, Woburn came ready to play and jumped out to an early lead when they scored a quick goal in the first. The Wildcats played good defense, but were unable to put the puck in the net. Woburn led 1-0 after one.

The second period was a defensive battle, the Wildcat "D" of Paul Martel, Daniel Spurr, Niko Katsikis, Marc Grassia and Matt Bibeau did not allow Woburn many shots and goalie Kevin Bradley stopped everything that came near him. Wilmington got on the board with 1:40 left to play in the second when Patrick Cassidy made a nice pass to Jared Waite (two goals) and Waite made a nice backhand to beat the goalie.

The score remained tied until Wilmington took the lead with 9:06 left in the third. Spurr made a nice pass from the blue line to Waite who snuck it past the pad of the Woburn netminder. Wilmington's lead wasn't enough; Woburn scored two late goals in the third to win 3-2. Wilmington now knew it had to win on Saturday to reach the post season.

North Middlesex was one point behind Wilmington for the last playoff spot and a win over the Cats would put Wilmington out and them into the playoffs. Wilmington had something to say about this. The Wildcats lost earlier this season to No. Middlesex in a 1-0 contest, so they knew they were in for a battle. No. Middlesex jumped out quickly with a first period goal to take the lead after one. Wilmington, remembering Wednesday's game against Woburn picked it up at both ends in the second.

The Wildcat offense of Shawn Crowley, Richie Murray, Kevin Carter did a great job of putting pressure on the No. Middlesex goalie, and with 8.41 left to play Wilmington tied it up. Marc Grassia (two assists) made a nice pass to Keith Little (two goals, one assist) who found Patrick Cassidy (one goal, one assist) in front of the net. Patrick did a nice job controlling the puck and put it in the back of the net.

The defense of Spurr, Martel, Katsikis, Hope, Grassia and Bradley held No. Middlesex scoreless in the second.

The third period had playoff intensity with great scoring drives by both teams. Wilmington took the lead early when Grassia found Matt Bibeau who made a great move to avoid the defender and passed it up to Scott Dacko. Dacko faked the goalie low and shot it high to put Wilmington up by one.

Wilmington scored again when Cassidy stole the puck in the neutral zone, made a nice pass to Jared Waite who was rushing up the ice. Jared faked a shot on net and then dumped the puck to Little who was all by himself in front of the net. Keith quickly shot it past the goalie and Wilmington was up by two. No. Middlesex scored a quick goal while the Wildcats were on a penalty and then tied the game with a nice score from their big defenseman.

The game was tied and a tie would favor Wilmington being a point up in the playoff run. No. Middlesex knew this and pulled their goalie with two minutes to play. Wilmington not only managed to hold off the six on five, but Little made a nice shot from middle ice to an empty net with 1:13 to play. Wilmington held off a charging No. Middlesex for the remainder of the game, to not only win but to ensure that the Wilmington Squirt E's would be in the post season this year.

A special thanks to the coaching staff of Tom Crowley, Bob Little, Mike Grassia and Kevin Murray for a great regular season!! Thanks, guys and good luck in the playoffs.

Mite D's breeze through opponents

Fueled by the promise of the upcoming playoffs and an 11 day respite since their last game, the Wilmington Mite D hockey team sliced through the last two games of their regular Valley League season last weekend like a hot knife through butter, winning both and locking up first place in the Silver South Division.

The Mite D's, who were generously sponsored this season by Wilmington Firestone, capped off their season convincingly by defeating Marblehead on Friday evening 12-2 on home ice, and then downing Pentucket on Saturday morning at the Brooks School in North Andover by a score of 9-1. The Wildcats, who had not played since March 26, simply exploded in these two matches with an adrenaline dump of goals pent up from their 11 day break in action.

On Friday, against Marblehead, Wilmington scored throughout the game at a feverish pace, putting up three goals in the first period, six in the second and three more in the third. The litany of scorers for Wilmington included Eddie Barrasso, Peter Leighton, Ryan Kennedy, Alex Williams, Patrick Enwright (two), Craig Benard, Sean Keane, Brett Kidik, David Mello (two) and Jimmy Mullen. Keane, Kidik, Leighton and Jared Hayes also logged assists.

Their efforts and the marvelous defense of Kyle Cimon, James Clancy, Chris Colosimo and Brian Coutu simplified life considerably for Wildcat goalie Brendan O'Brien, who also helped his own cause by playing a splendid game in net.

Saturday's game featured more of the same, again with Brendan O'Brien between the pipes for the Cats. In this one, the D's overwhelmed Pentucket, and likely gave the official scorer writer's cramp, by dishing up four scores in the first frame, three in the second and two in the third, while allowing only one score midway through the first period.

Coming through with the scores for Wilmington this time were Eddie Barrasso, Pat Enwright, Brian Coutu (two), Chris Colosimo, Ryan Kennedy, Peter Leighton, Brett Kidik and Jared Hayes. Colosimo, a defenseman, notched his goal when he stole the puck in the Pentucket zone, skated it up the left side and put in a laser shot from tough angle away from the net.

Booking assists for the D's during the game were Enwright, Leighton, Coutu (two) and Kennedy.

On defense, Kyle Cimon, James Clancy, Craig Benard, Alex Williams, along with goalie O'Brien, totally smothered Pentucket's offense in the second and third periods.

The D's finished off the regular season in first place in the Silver South Division with a record of 16-1-2, and an unbeaten streak of 15 games. They scored 101 goals, while allowing only 23. They also won two of the three tournaments in which they played. Their formula for success this year has combined luck and hard work, and they are hoping to carry that formula into the playoffs next Saturday and Sunday.

Congratulations to Coach Ed Barrasso and Assistant Coaches John Mullen, George Williams and Dennis Enwright for a thrilling, successful year. They, the players and their families would also like to thank Wilmington Firestone for its gracious support during the 1999-2000 season.

Baseball team looks to take experience to the next level

By PATRICK HANRAHAN
Sports Correspondent

A couple of runs here and there last year and Shawsheen Tech baseball would have had a much different season. They finished the season with an overall record of 8-10 and went 7-7 in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference, which was good enough for third place. The record does not tell the entire story. "We lost 6 games by one run," says coach Jim Deluca.

"If you just turn that around a little bit, it's a great season."

Last year's team depended on young players. Not much was expected of the squad, but they performed well, always giving themselves a chance to win.

This season's edition of the Rams should be able to build on last year's encouraging results. After hovering around .500 for much of his three-year tenure as coach, Jim Deluca would like his squad to take the next step.

This year's team is "a little young too," according to Deluca, but they are seasoned. "We have a lot of kids returning with a lot of experience," he says. "We're expected to at least make a good run at the league title."

The key to the season is the key to most teams' seasons - pitching.

"If the pitching comes around, and we get timely hitting and good defense, we should be good," says Deluca. "We're athletic. We have depth of pitching. We're definitely optimistic."

Senior captain Brian LeBlanc of Wilmington, the team's catcher, will lead the squad. He made the conference All-Star last team last year. "He's excellent behind the plate," says Deluca. "He has a strong arm."

Staff ace responsibilities fall to Senior Steven Sullivan. Coming off a solid junior campaign, he will need to step up to the next level. His coach has confidence in his abilities and likes what he has seen so far. "He looked strong all spring," he says.

Shortstop and defensive specialist Charles Gioisa anchors the infield. "He started 14 games last year," says Deluca. "He was very consistent. The rest of infield is untested."

Although the rest of the team lacks experience, Deluca feels good trotting them out because they have had success. The JV squad went 15-1 last year. The youngsters will not get a chance to ease into the season. Their first test comes against a Whittier Tech club that has won the league the last two years.

They return solid pitching at the top of the rotation, and although the Rams have played them tough the last two years, they have fallen short. Deluca thinks this year's squad can reverse the trend.

"We're more athletic this year," says Deluca. "We have good team speed. We're looking to take advantage of that on the base paths."

Other locals include Wilmington's Derek McLaren as a pitcher, and Tewksbury's Brian O'Hara, who'll see some time at first base.

Solid pitching and defense, aggressive baserunning, and timely hitting form the ingredients for baseball success. Young teams often lack one key element in critical situations that costs them close games. Jim Deluca and the Shawsheen Rams baseball team hopes that last season's experience gives them that extra boost to win the close ones.

Softball team 4-0, including win over one of state's best

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Can it get any better than this?

The Shawsheen Girls' softball team won all four of its games this week, including a 3-2 victory over Bishop Fenwick on Friday, as well as a 2-0 win over Bedford on Monday.

"We're playing very well right now," said coach Ed Henry. "This is nice, hopefully we can keep it going."

The season started with an 18-2 five inning win over Greater Lawrence. Two days later the team traveled to Peabody to take on Bishop Fenwick, and they have been picked as one of the better teams in Division 1. Shawsheen is in Division 3. The result? A 3-2 win for Shawsheen (see more on page 16).

"This is pretty sweet," said Henry after winning on the same turf he guided Bishop Fenwick to eight state championships before coming to Shawsheen. "It feels good to be on top of the mountain, hopefully we'll stay here for a while."

Fenwick led 1-0 after three innings and Shawsheen tied it up in the fourth when Flo Arsenault singled in Amy McAdoo. The score stayed the same until the top of the sixth and that's when the short game came into effect and won the game. Wilmington native Erika Persson bunted down the third base line with the bases empty and one out. The third baseman fielded the ball but threw it into right field. The speedy Persson cam all away around to score a huge run giving the Rams a 2-1 lead. McAdoo followed and she singled to left, stole second and stole third. She scored the game winning run as Arsenault singled to left field again for her second RBI of the game.

Fenwick had runners at first and third with no outs in the home half of the seventh, down 3-1. Ram's catcher Kelly Gillis caught a bunt for the first out, and Fenwick elected to have the runner from first take off for second on a double steal. Gillis threw down to second base, getting the runner by several steps, while the runner from third came in to score. The next batter grounded out and Fenwick won, 3-2.

"I was surprised that the runner was going," said Henry. "Kelly was struggling throwing out runners and we've been working with her to snap a throw from her knees. That's what she did. We'll take the out and give up the run with Flo on the mound in that situation."

On Monday, Arsenault tossed a 1-hit shutout in the team's 2-0 win over Bedford, and on Tuesday she repeated the same 1-hit shutout (only 5 innings of work) performance in the team's 8-0 win against Whittier Tech.

Tennis team looks to have fun, be competitive

By PATRICK HANRAHAN
Sports Correspondent

Shawsheen tennis may be in for a tough year, but they're going to have fun doing it. With little experience to go with their fun-loving attitude, the Rams will have to grow up quickly if they are to compete in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference.

"It's going to be a tough year for us," says coach Peter Back, who has been with the program for the past eight years. "We have kids playing that haven't played before. We only have three returning people."

Hope for the season begins with Junior Jim Thorpe of Wilmington. After playing from the number two position last year, he will be asked to step up and play other team's number one player.

"He's done very well, but he played in the number two position," says Back. "In this league the top is very good, but it drops off very quickly."

Tennis is not the strongest sport in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference. A few good players can make a difference.

"Whoever has depth wins the CAC," says coach Back. "Usually, it's Tyngsboro."

Shawsheen's youth makes it difficult to assess the team's depth. On paper, they look to be too young to make waves in the conference this season. But you never know. Some of the young kids could really step up to compliment Thorpe.

Many area kids will lead the charge for the co-ed squad. Senior Sarah Carter and Junior Sean Farraher of Tewksbury should contribute. Another Tewksbury native, Junior Matt McConnell "may do very well," according to his coach. Tewksbury freshmen Michael Camoscio, Matt Carter (the brother of Sarah), and Katherine Kuzdeal form the core of youth that must step up. Back assesses his roster and finds another youngster from Wilmington. "Jenny McConnell should do alright," he says. "She'll be playing."

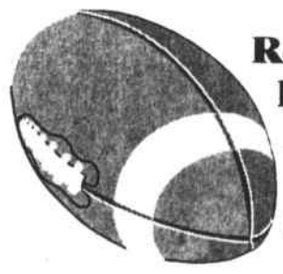

Back will have to play the role of sports psychologist this season. He'll attempt to keep his young team on an even keel in the face of new challenges and, quite possibly, mounting losses.

His plan: "Let them have fun. Let them see they are learning something that will carry through, that they are improving. They are a young team. They are working for years down the road."

He looks forward to the challenge because he likes the attitude of the team.

"They seem like good kids, enjoyable to be with," he says. "I've had teams that were very good but a pain to be with."

Pee Wee B's blank Arlington, 9-0

Wilmington 8 Arlington 0

On March 31, the Wilmington Pee Wee B's played against Arlington and shut them down; they were quick on their feet and had some great passing going on along with the skills and great eye work of their goaltender Mike Thibault, enabling them to skate away with such a win. Quick run down of goals:

First period: 78 seconds into the game Derick Duarte skated on a breakaway landing the puck right in the net. Still in the first with :10 left, Joe Pino got an assist as he saw Derick Duarte open to score, ending the first.

Going into the second period at 9:04 Jackie Rideout got an assist as she skated the puck into her opponents zone making a nice pass to David Griffin who took a nice shot on net only to have it hit the post, taking an assist in that play, but Jay Surianello was there to pick up the rebound and score.

At 4:22 Bryant Buck kept the pick in the zone getting an assist and making a nice pass to David Griffin who took a shot on net only to have it hit the post, getting an assist as Jay Surianello picked up the rebound and scored.

Going into the third at 10:57 Steve Emery, with speed took the puck into the opponents zone and got an assist as Derick Duarte picked up the pass with an assist when Joe Pino put it into the net. At 7:26 Jackie Rideout picked up an assist as she took the puck in with David Griffin by her side, at the right moment. She made her pass to him and he scored. At 7:05 Derick Duarte took the puck in getting an assist as Joe Pino got an assist when he completed a pass to Steve Emery who took a shot on net to score.

The last goal for the B's was at 6:15. Steve Emery kept the puck in the zone, picking up an assist for getting a pass off to Derick Duarte who took a shot from the blue line and put it right into the net giving him a hat trick.

Wilmington 4 Chelmsford 3

Quickly recapping this game against Chelmsford, which was a tough one, with head to head plays. Chelmsford started the scoring but the B's were right behind, put one in the net and kept it ahead. At 2:48 left in the first, Jay Surianello took an assist as he took a shot on net but it rebounded out and David Griffin was there to put it right in the net.

Going into the second period, time 4:58, Jackie Rideout with an assist on this play got the puck to David Griffin who scored a nice shot on net. Chelmsford scored, bringing us to the third.

The puck was tied in the corner and Jay Surianello and Jackie Rideout got an assist as they made a nice pass to Ray Bennett at the blue line. He scored a nice goal when he fired from where he stood. Chelmsford picked up another goal, tying the game.

With 10 seconds left Jackie Rideout put her skating in first gear and took center ice all the way into Chelmsford's zone right to the net to score, bringing the game to 4-3.

Wilmington 5 Tewksbury 1

Recapping first period, Ray Bennett took an assist as David Griffin picked up his pass taking a nice shot to score. Tewksbury scored and that was the only one.

Second period, David Griffin and Bryant Buck got an assist as their pass got to Joe Pino who scored .

In the third Scott Dunnett, with great speed took the puck alone to the net to score. Next Jay Surianello picked up an assist as his pass was picked up by Derick Duarte who scored. Derick Duarte also assisted the last goal of the game when his shot on net was deflected, but Joe Pino was nearby to pick it up and score with only one minute left.

Wilmington 2 Manchester 1

First period Manchester scored and that was all for them. The B's picked up two in the second, but it was not easy. Derick Duarte and David Griffin got an assist as their passes are picked up by Joe Pino who scored. For this goal Derick Duarte received an assist as he and David skate head to head to the net. Derick made his pass at the right time and David slid it right into the net.

The B's had an awesome season and I would like to add that their goaltender Mike Thibault has done a terrific job keeping scoring on him very low, many times, to a complete shutout, giving them a spot in the finals along with his teammates.

The whole team did a great job to get them there. A few names not mentioned in the above are Jennifer Corcoran who rode her opponents to the board and took the puck away all the time with some shot on net. Mike McMahon, for his speed in taking the puck out of his zone and into his opponents, throwing in some good checks. Steve Peterson for his speed also taking the puck out of his zone into his opponents, and good passing to his teammates.

I have enjoyed watching them this season. You have all worked hard and have done a super job. On to the finals. Keep going, and good luck.

Pee Wee A's gives Exeter too much to handle

The Wilmington Pee Wee A Team, sponsored by Attorney Robert G. Peterson, made the long haul up to Exeter, N.H. this past Sunday to take on the N.H. Wildcats.

The Wilmington Cats, playing with a short bench came out strong as less than 50 seconds in, Resendes got the puck to Zack Wilkins who deposited it into the twine. The pressure was on the defense of Raposo, Randall, Velardo and Peterson who were keeping them trapped in their zone. Browne, playing smart hockey, got the puck to Tucker who took a "blast" which Zack Wilkins tipped past the N.H. netminder go to up by two.

The Cats were rolling. Less than a minute later, Wilkins returned the favor to Ed Tucker who found the back of the goal easily. With the first period winding down, Tucker got the puck to Wilkins who once again placed it into the opposing goal. The N.H. boys did manage to sneak one in on David before the period ended.

The second period was fast up and down hockey. Both teams were getting their chances. Giordano, Sinopoli and Ollila were relentless, but the N.H. goalie came up big. In the Wilmington end, David was his usual, nothing less than spectacular self. The hits were getting heavier as the game went on. The only score of the second was a N.H. one. End of two Wilmington 4-N.H. 2.

The momentum had swung to the N.H. side so to put an end to any ideas they may have had, Wilkins swung the net and got the puck to Tony Resendes who in turn buried the biscuit. To round out the scoring, Wilkins passed back to the point, and Eric Raposo let go a Rocket which ended the game. With the win, the Cats clinched first place in the Valley League. Great game and team effort.

Special thanks to the Pee Wee A coaching staff of Paul Wilkins, Kevin Browne and Scott Aldrich who over the past eight months have dedicated numerous hours to these 14 boys and who have helped make them a "team."

Mite A's edge Tewksbury, 4-3

Wilmington 4 Tewksbury 3

The Wilmington Mite A's, needing a win against the Tewksbury Mite A's to tie them for the top spot in the standings of the top Dual State Mite Division came up big holding on at the end for the 4-3 victory and the number one seed in the Dual State playoffs.

This was the 10th meeting of the year between the cross town rivals and the Cats knew this was going to be a close game. Tewksbury jumped out on top, scoring on the power play midway through the first period.

The Cats answered with 13 ticks left in the period as the defense held the point getting the puck to Nick Riccio who found Mike Jensen to the right of the net and Mike drilled a low shot into the corner.

The second period was fast and furious with many chances for both teams, but it was the Cats scoring with just three seconds left in the period to take the 2-1 lead.

With 13 seconds left in the second period and the faceoff in the Tewksbury zone Justin Dirienzo worked the puck free from the corner and fed Nick Riccio in the slot for the one timer. The Cats defense was strong as they worked feverishly to limit the Redmen's scoring chances. Mike Derosa, Steve Dunnett, Cam Fitzpatrick and Matt Stokes stepped up their defensive play keeping the high scoring Redmen forwards in check. Anthony Botte played between the pipes for the Cats making some super stops in this game to keep the Cats out in front.

The Cats were relentless in their back checking efforts with Eric Siegel, Conor Murphy, Andrew Goossens, and Alan Michael Santos, always getting back to help the defense. The Cats took a 3-1 lead with eight minutes to go in the third when Mike Jensen found the rebound of a Danny Cushing shot and buried the puck in the strings.

Tewksbury would not go away as they picked up the pace scoring on the power play making the game 3-2 with just over four minutes to play. The Cats answered that goal with a goal of their own 21 seconds later as Casey Pickett picked up the puck at center ice and skated in on a two on one with Nick Riccio. Casey drew the defenseman over and slid the puck to Nick and he buried it into the corner.

The Cats were back on top leading 4-2 but once again Tewksbury showed that they would not go down without a fight as they popped one in with two minutes to go.

The Cats held on as Tewksbury pulled their goalie for the extra skater but could not generate another tally beating the Redmen for the third time in Dual State 4-3. The Cats finish the Dual State regular season with a record of 15-2-2 tying the Redmen for the top spot in the division as the Cats were the only team to blemish their record in the Dual State. The Cats look forward to a possible meeting in the final game of the Dual State playoffs this weekend.

Wilmington vs Medford

The Cats Valley League season came to an end as Medford could not field a team and the Cats were awarded the two points with the forfeit. The Cats loaned Nick Riccio, Mike Jensen and Cam Fitzpatrick to the Mustangs for a scrimmage having some fun for the hour.

It appears that the Cats will just miss the playoffs in the top Mite division in the Valley even though they finished strong with a 9-6-5 record. The Cats were 6-2-2 in their last 10 Valley games but could not catch Wakefield who had moved into the division with a 7-0 record from the lower division.

The Cats can be proud that they beat every team in the division at least once and finished the season strong.

Wilmington 8 Everett 0

The Cats advanced to the semifinals of the District 10 Mite Fun Tournament with a convincing with against Everett 8-0. Passing was the key to this game as the line of Nick Riccio, Casey Pickett, and Justin Dirienzo put on a clinic as they notched seven of the eight tallies for the Cats. Anthony Botte played between the pipes for the Cats and turned away all of Everett's shots earning the shutout.

The Cats defense was instrumental in keeping the puck in the Everett end for most of the game with Cam Fitzpatrick, Matt Stokes, Steve Dunnett, and Mike Derosa playing the blueline. Mike Derosa got the Cats going when he fed Casey Pickett who found Nick Riccio for the score. Casey found Nick again before the end of the first period when she fed him a nice pass in the slot and Nick flipped it over the goalie.

The Cats forwards continued to apply pressure as Alan Michael Santos, Conor Murphy and Dan Cushing were busy digging for loose pucks. The Cats first goal of the second period was set up with some great passing as Casey Pickett fed Justin Dirienzo breaking out on a two on one with Mike Jensen. Justin fed Mike and Mike slid it back to Justin. The Everett goalie stopped Justin's bid but Casey grabbed the rebound and fired it in.

Nick Riccio fed Casey in the slot with her first shot blocked but she banged in the rebound for her second goal. Casey Pickett, playing her best game of the year notched her hat trick when she banged in the rebound of a Nick Riccio shot to start the third period.

A minute later Nick fed Casey on a two on one and she clanged one off the post but Justin Dirienzo was on the spot and knocked in the rebound.

Eric Siegel took a feed from Andrew Goossens and found the top corner for the score. Nick, Casey, and Justin teamed up for the Cats final tally as Justin found Casey and she tapped it ahead to Nick and he blasted it in the net for his hat trick and the 8-0 win.

Wilmington 6 Salem 3

The Wilmington Mite A's and the Salem Mite A's squared off at Hockey Town in a Dual State game with the Cats winning this contest 6-3. The Cats got on the board with the only goal of the first period as Casey Pickett worked the puck free along the boards and fed Eric Siegel who beat the goalie with a hard wrist shot.

The Cats defense was unpenetratable in the first two periods as Mike Derosa, Steve Dunnett, Cam Fitzpatrick, and Matt Stokes kept the Salem forwards in check and Anthony Botte turned away any shots that they did get off on net.

The flood gates opened in the second period and the Cats took a 6-0 lead after two. Alan Michael Santos took the opening faceoff of the second period and fired a shot on net that was stopped but Eric Siegel was there for the rebound and the score. Mike Jensen started a pretty play as he fed Casey Pickett who spotted Eric Siegel in the slot for his hat trick.

Less than a minute later Alan Michael Santos found Danny Cushing in the slot and Danny whistled a wrist shot by the Salem goalie. Danny scored another goal 30 seconds later as Eric Siegel took a pass from Mike Derosa and fed Danny in the slot for the score.

The final score of the period was a pretty feed from Eric Siegel to Andrew Goossens in the slot for the score. The game was only half over and the Cats were up six goals so they played a few different positions and had some fun for the final period of the game.

The Cats continued to pepper the Salem netminder as Dan Cushing hit the post twice in the final stanza looking to notch a hat trick. Nick Riccio and Conor Murphy had their chances in this game as they put pressure on the Salem defense.

The Cats gave up three unanswered goals in the third period, winning the game 6-3.

Mite E's eating up the wins

The Wilmington Mite E youth hockey team seemed to be in a win one, loose one mode and coming off a tough, hard fought loss against Methuen, the Mites were hungry for victory.

Wilmington got off to a fast start by keeping Andover bottled up in their own end, but they were unable to get a good shot on net. Cody Wilkins and Dean Moran were at the top of their game keeping the puck in and the pressure on. The line of Brian Good, Patrick Boudreau and Tommy Callahan really showed their stuff when Brian and Patrick sent Tommy in for a nice shot on net.

Into the second period Andover was turning the heat up on Wilmington. The Wildcat goalie, Brian Fitzpatrick turned Andover's heat down with a great point blank save and a smothering tie-up. Off the faceoff Cam Depres worked the puck out of the zone and made a nice pass to Patrick Young who shot a flame thrower past the Andover goalie.

In the third with Wilmington down 2-1, Justin Rivera and Matt Larfarrello turned it up a notch and were flying up and down the ice. Midway into the period Melissa Good stole the puck away from two Andover defenders and set up Paul Duffy who made a great fake to score Wilmington's second goal.

With the score tied and the game at a fever pitch, Sean Taveres was cool as could be when he broke up the Andover rush and sent Patrick Young in for another sizzling shot and score.

Now, late in the third with the Cats up 3-2, Andover pulled their goalie and were all over Wilmington and once again Fitzy in the net came up huge. With seconds left, three Andover forwards came in uncontested. They were ready for a shooting gallery on Fitzpatrick when Brian "Big Play" Hurley single handedly broke them up and foiled any chance they had.

Mite C's play great, but fall short

The Wilmington Mite C Team faced the league leader on Saturday, at Merrimack College, and just couldn't break through the tough defense of Agawam, as the 'cats lost the game, 2-0.

Although Wilmington has played Agawam tough all year they came up a little short on Saturday. Even with outstanding goaltending from Eric Parsons, who stopped 24 Agawam shots,

Wilmington just could not get anything going on the offensive side of the ice. Agawam scored two goals, one in the first period and one in the third period to ice the win.

Playing solid defense for Wilmington were Anthony Bruce, Andrew Flodin, Kyle Creedon, Jesse Rossetti and Sam Grant. Playing great two way hockey for the Mini Cats were, Lewis Robertson, Chris Robertson, Scott Derrickson, Kevin Barry, Sean Callahan, Danny McDougall, Brendan Murphy, Brendan Collins and Charlie Gendron.

The Mite C Team heads to the play-offs in the Valley League Saturday at the Merrimack Valley Forum against, either S&S or Peabody.

Under 13A Girls

Lyons scoring was just the beginning

April 1 saw the Lady Wildcats Under 13A Girl's soccer team open the spring season with a decisive win over a team from Medford. Playing on the WHS field for the first time Wilmington controlled the game from start to finish. Passing was crisp and controlled, keeping the play mostly in the Medford zone. Debbie Lyons opened the scoring, booting one past the Medford keeper.

Jackie Rideout completed the scoring, besting the Medford keeper for two more goals. The Wilmington defense prevented any serious threat from Medford from penetrating their zone and the Lady Wildcats came away with a 3-0 win.

The game was played well in all areas. Katharine McMahon played a fine all around game and won the offensive player award. Kelly Crosby was a force at stopper and won the defensive player award.

Congratulations to the entire team. Jessica Alosco, Alicia Braid, Holly Brown, Lani Cabral-Pini, Kelly Crosby, Celine DeMaggio, Teresa DeSimone, Caitlin Foley, Bridget Kent, Debbie Lyons, Sarah McGowan, Katharine McMahon, Caitlin McNabb, Ryan Murphy, Kerry Porter, Jackie Rideout and Krystina Smith.

Game two saw the team travel to Billerica April 8. The first half saw back and forth game with Wilmington slowly gaining control. Caitlin McNabb opened the scoring followed by a shot by Teresa DeSimone. The defense played solid, keeping Billerica away from the goal and Alicia Braid again turned away all shots. The Wilmington game was a display of passing and pressure on the Billerica team.

The second half saw six more goals being scored. Teresa DeSimone scored her second goal. Ryan Murphy blasted one by the keeper for her first goal and Bridget Kent also scored her first goal. Stopper Kelly Crosby also scored, firing one into the net on a rebound from a corner kick. Jackie Rideout also scored, directing a rebound from a direct kick into the net. Debbie Lyons also scored late in the second period. The final score was 8-0 Wilmington.

The Wilmington defense was led by Celine DeMaggio, Sarah McGowan, Holly Brown and Krystina Smith. Kerry Porter was awarded the defensive player award for her solid effort in keeping the Billerica offense blocked.

Jessica Alosco and Lani Cabral-Pini played a determined game, challenging the Billerica team at every turn. Ryan Murphy earned the offensive player award for her outstanding play in keeping the pressure on the Billerica team.

Under 10 Girls enjoy exciting victory

The Wilmington GU10 Wildcats played another very exciting soccer game this past Saturday in Woburn. They started the game strong and didn't let the Woburn offense penetrate their end.

Andrea Mitchell and Amanda Lord played great defensively and made some super passes to allow Casey Godzyk and Lauren Frissore breakaways to the net. Danielle Miles and Jennie DiNuccio were superb as midfielders and along with the fancy footwork of Katie Stone, were able to keep the ball away from the Woburn offense.

The second half was completely dominated by Wilmington. Continuous shots on goal by Colleen McGee, Colleen Carroll, Erin Muise and Nicole Reed kept the pressure on the Woburn goalie. Although Wilmington outplayed Woburn, they weren't able to get a shot past the goalie and the game ended in a 0-0 tie.

Under 12-4 Boys provide big offensive sparks

The Wilmington U12-4 Travel soccer team played in Malden Saturday, April 8 for the second game of their season. It was a beautiful day, but the wind was blowing and picked up as the game progressed. Wilmington had the wind in its favor during the first half. The team had a sense of confidence about it due to the previous week's convincing win.

Wilmington midfielders John Lipiello and Carlos Moran kept moving the ball to forwards Jess Belding, James Cuoco, Eric Legro and Dan Metcalfe. With excellent passing and ball control, Eric Legro broke the ice and scored the first goal of the game. Shortly afterward Jesse Belding scored followed by James Cuoco. Wilmington had an early lead of 3-0 and the team was playing very forward in anticipation of scoring more goals.

Malden realized they were in trouble and began to mount a counterattack. They made several strong rushes at the Wilmington goal. Mike Johnson in the Wilmington net was solid and made several key saves. He had strong help from central defenders Carl Crupi, Victor DiFava and Zachary Ciampa.

Each time there was a close call, they managed to pass the ball to the outside defenders Brendan O'Riordan and Dan Patterson who got the ball out of the Wilmington end safely along the sideline. Nevertheless, during one wild flurry, Malden was able to capitalize and scored a goal of its own.

This woke up the Wilmington attack and midfielders James Savage and Patrick Schultz started pressing the Wilmington attack. Stealing the ball from the Malden attackers, they passed to forwards Ryan Loring, Mark Walsh, Dan Metcalfe and Carlos Moran. After making several passes in front of the Malden net, Dan Metcalfe shot it in to make the score 4-1 just before the first half ended.

During the second half, Wilmington was playing against the wind and it was picking up. The ball was in the Wilmington end more during the second half than the first. It was a solid defensive effort by both teams as Wilmington was trying to prevent Malden from climbing back into the game, and Malden was trying to prevent Wilmington from running any further away with it.

James Cuoco played goal, the Wilmington defenders made the Malden shots difficult and James was able to make the saves. Wilmington had several opportunities in the second half and Dan Metcalfe cashed in on one of his own, making the final score 5-1. Two wins in a row, good start to the spring season.

Under 10 Boys not short on effort, or rest

After a 6-2 record this fall, and some game hardening in the winter with Futsal, the Wilmington Wildcat Under 10 Boy's soccer team opened their spring season Saturday April 1 against a new opponent North Reading.

The two teams had a see-saw first half. Michael Condell had a great shot on goal that went off the crossbar. Chris Welch was stopped on a sure goal when the keeper smothered the ball. On defense, Craig Bush was making some key plays. Wilmington keeper David Reed made a great sliding save of a Reading shot.

Late in the first period, a Reading player apparently dribbled over the goal line. The Wilmington defense stopped play, but with no whistle, the Reading players was able to shoot past a surprised Wilmington defense.

The second half saw Wilmington take it to the North Reading team, as North Reading seemed to be playing less aggressively. The North Reading keeper made an incredible save on a wide open shot by a hustling Condell. After that, Condell fed Jonathan Derrick three times in front of the goal. Derrick was rejected by the stellar North Reading keeper.

Finally, on a pass from Nicholas Jannone, Welch made one of his patented big boots to score the first goal. On the next kick off Condell stole the ball from North Reading, and made a pinpoint shot on a breakaway, to notch his first goal of the spring. Brian Connelly was making a number of stand-up saves on defense.

About 15 minutes into the half, a pressing Wilmington offense saw a squibbler go off the hand of the keeper and into the goal. Jonathan Derrick continued his pressing offense and had two more shots on goal before the game ended.

An exhausted Wilmington team celebrated their final score of 3-1. Somerville will be their next opponent at Textron field.

Under 9A boys capture first win

On a glorious spring day last Saturday the Wilmington boys U9A travel soccer team journeyed to Concord-Carlisle to take home their first win of the season. This was a challenge for both teams. Concord-Carlisle came out strong, applying solid pressure from the outset.

Wilmington's defense was held together by Mike DeRosa and Ricky Belding, with incredible work by keeper Kevin Moran. Midfielders Jonathan Spurr, Colin Wilson, Ryan Searles and Stephen Stewart hustled hard to try and move the ball upfield to their forwards. Michael Scola and Kenny Vassallo worked the forward line with nice passing sequences. With only a minute left to the half, Concord-Carlisle took advantage of a free kick inside the box and went ahead with a 1-0 lead.

The Wildcats were not about to let this game get away from them. Jonathan Spurr made a perfectly placed pass at midfield allowing forward Kevin Moran to break ahead of the defense and fire off a solid blast into the goal. With the game tied up, both teams intensified their efforts. With 10 minutes to go, Wilmington's Ricky Belding sent a free kick straight into the goal only to have it called back over confusion over it being direct or indirect.

Undaunted Wilmington pressed on, Scola, Searles and DeRosa were determined to maintain possession of the ball. Two minutes later the same play presented itself again. This time Belding's kick fired through the defensive wall toward the opposite corner of the goal. Wilmington's aggressive offense of Stewart and Pereira stormed the net as Stewart gave the ball an insurance kick to make sure that this goal would count.

The Wildcats pulled ahead and thanks to a tremendous team effort, including impressive goal tending by Colin Wilson, the defense was impenetrable as the locals held onto the win.

Final score: Wilmington 2; Concord-Carlisle 1.

Under 10A Girls enjoy their own wind

It was another walk in the park for the Girls U 10 'A" Cyclone Team as they breezed by Reading's number one team on Saturday. Reading could not penetrate Wilmington's rugged defense with sweepers Dana Nolan and Jessica Stira playing top notch games in the position for the Cyclones.

Keeper Leah Potcner was tested only once in the first 25 minutes, attacking the ball and making a great sliding save for Wilmington. The team continues to improve its offensive attack with sharp passing and teamwork. Playing at forward, Jessica Labrecque took a few shots on net of her own then made a crisp pass up to speedy left forward Nicole Nihan, who narrowly missed with a shot just right of the net.

After a line change, forward Christa Cavallaro dug in and worked the ball upfield rifling a hard shot that was stopped by Reading's keeper. Midfielder Stephanie Sauve gobbled up the return kick and blasted a shot high over the goalie's head that went through her fingertips and into the net. The half ended with a score of 1-0.

Midfielders Katie Cole and Jennifer O'Neil each had solid games for the Cyclones providing support to the team both offensively and defensively. Each had shots on net stopped by the Reading keeper. Elizabeth Wilson was relentless in her pursuit of the ball blasting shot after shot at the net before finally putting one in from the left side.

Next up was Brittany Concannon who used her speed and dribbled right through the middle of Reading's defenders then unleashed the ball with a decisive kick that flew by the stunned keeper. The game ended with a 3-0 victory for the Cyclone Team, bringing their record to 2-0-0 in Division 1 competition. The team is looking forward to game three against rival Westford next Saturday.

Trio provides enough power for Under 10A Girls

Under a beautiful spring sky the Wilmington Girls Under 10A team opened up the spring season with a very impressive win.

Coaches Barry Jenson and Keith Benson had their team firing on all cylinders as they played their 2-2-1 scheme to perfection. The forward line of Kristen Browne, Elizabeth Chin, and Stephanie Benson opened up the scoring with a nice goal by Elizabeth. The defense of Casey Pickett and Charlotte Jenson kept the pressure off of goalie Nicole Bockus who made some nice saves when needed.

The pressure continued when the line of Stephanie Woods, Maureen Worthington, and Kaitlyn Foy broke down the Waltham defense with some nice passing. The result of their hard work was a breakaway by Maureen, who was robbed by the Waltham goalie on a nice save. The defense of Natalie Russo and Kelly Walsh stymied the Waltham offense, and kept the pressure off Nicole. Nicole finished the first half with a shutout after making a beautiful save on a shot labeled for the high corner.

The Wilmington girls entered the second half leading 1-0 and hungry for more. The defense of Stephanie Benson and the goaltending of Elizabeth Chin kept the Waltham team frustrated as they shut down all of Waltham's attempts.

The offense opened up with Nicole Bockus, Stephanie Woods, Kristen Browne and Charlotte Jenson making some nice passes and creating several scoring chances. Charlotte Jenson was sent in on a partial breakaway by a nice pass from Stephanie Woods, but the Waltham defense held her off.

The offense really opened up in the second half when Casey Pickett picked up two goals. Both of Casey's goals were nice low shots to the corners that the Waltham goalie had no chance of saving. Kelly Walsh assisted Casey's first goal, and Natalie Russo assisted her second goal, both goals coming after some nice passing. Amanda Church led the defense in the second half and she helped Elizabeth Chin keep the shutout intact.

The girls' hard work in practice is really beginning to pay off in the area of teamwork, as many nice plays were created off throw-ins and nice passing.

Under 10B Boys' win, 4-0

Wilmington vs Winchester

On a windswept, sunny day, the U10B team took the field against a new opponent, Winchester.

With the winds at their back in the first half, the Winchester team put heavy pressure on the Wilmington team in their own end. Dan Travers, Wilmington keeper, made several routine saves on Winchester shots that were tricky to handle when aided by the wind.

Mike MacPherson had a huge chance on a direct kick for Wilmington after Winchester was called for a hand ball foul. The shot sailed wide and to the right. Shortly after, off a feed by James Little, Billy Papageorgiou had a shot in front of the net, but Winchester's defense held. Meanwhile, Dan Hurley and Eric DiFava were playing tough defense. As the game seesawed back and forth, Winchester began to threaten. Travers made a tremendous, sprawling save of a sure goal and followed up with a great leaping grab of a high shot. The half ended scoreless thanks to Travers' efforts.

In the second half, it was Wilmington's turn to have the wind advantage. Ryan Jeannette made a long shot on goal that was caught. Papageorgiou was out in front, again, for a shot that the keeper batted down and smothered. Little followed with a shot right to the keeper's arms. Papageorgiou had a breakaway and was tripped up by a Winchester player right before the show, with no penalty called by the referee.

Again, Papageorgiou made a bid for a breakaway, but was called for outside. Shortly thereafter, the Wilmington offense had a mad scramble in front of the net that resulted in multiple kicks by MacPherson, Jeannette, and Kelly but they once again, came up empty.

MacPherson made a great feed to Jeannette in front, but the Winchester keeper made another great save. As the Wilmington team seemed to tire, the Winchester team started pressing. Charlie Lojek, backing up superb keeper Travers, turned in the play of the game. He robbed Winchester by his deflection of a sure goal. Travers made another diving acrobatic catch to end the game.

A great tie for the Wilmington team!

Wilmington vs Somerville

On a beautiful, sunny day the Wildcats took to the field to defend their 7-2 record against a new opponent, Somerville.

The first half was a defensive standoff, as Nathan Clarkin, Andrew Donovan and Craig Bush were flawless on defense. The first real threat of the game came when David Reed made a pinpoint pass to Marsh that the Somerville keeper dropped on. Chris Welch followed up with a boomer that sailed wide right.

Shortly after, Welch hit the crossbar. Somerville mounted a threat and shot wide right of Wilmington keeper Cerrone. Flying down the field, MIchael Condell missed a shot by inches. In a matter of seconds Jonatha n Derrick fed Condell which resulted in another near miss. Brian Connolly had a kick from a perfect feed by Welch, but the Somerville keeper made another neat save.

In the second half, Wilmington kept up the pressure, an a tired Somerville team finally succumbed. Connolly made a great pass to Welch in front for a score. Minutes later, Condell bounced one off the keeper's hand for a score. Andrew Della Pella, who played an inspired game, went in to score off a feed from Marsh. Welch connected with a hard shot off the keeper's hands. The defense continued to play a tight game and combined for a shutout.

Final score 4-0 Wilmington.

1963-'64 GIRL'S BASKETBALL TEAM, NEW INDUCTEES TO THE TMHS HALL OF FAME.

This group of athletes exemplified the epitome of team spirit and play. That spirit combined with outstanding skill produced a perfect 15-0 record and the 1963-64 Suburban League Championship.

Through hard work, determination and unselfish play these girls beat all the big powerhouses that year. The team's two wins over Billerica shocked the League. The Indians had won the conference title for three consecutive years. Sports enthusiasts expected a fourth domination by Lorraine Reil and her teammates, but Tewksbury was looking for revenge. The 1962-63 TMHS girls had lost two games to the Indians by a total of three points. In 1963-64 Billerica felt the sting losing two games to the Tewksbury gals by a total of four points.

It was hard for an opposing team to prepare a strategy for beating the TMHS girls that season. There was no one shooter. Every offensive player looked to assist, picks and screens. A quick, alert defense caused many turnovers, upsetting the rhythm of the opposing team. Publicity in this year for girls' sports was little to none.

A championship team of this caliber in this year would be front page sports news in all the local and Boston spring media. This team will be remembered as one of the great ones.

The varsity team winner of the Suburban League title, participated in the annual Men's Club Jamboree held Saturday night, March 7. In one of the basketball games of the evening, the Varsity played the J.V.'s and once again won. The seniors in the group were given sweaters by the Men's Club.

Squirts tie tough Triton team

The Tewksbury Squirts, sponsored by Jimmy Mac's closed out the regular season with a "500" week that pretty much summed up the entire season. They tied Triton, 2-2, beat Lexington/Bedford, 5-2 and lost to N.H. Junior Wildcats, 1-4. Actually, this team has shown that, on any given day they can be competitive with any team in their division. Let's just hope the playoffs fall on the right day.

The Redmen came very close to avenging an earlier loss to Triton as they led 2-1 deep into the third period. Sammy "Coast to Coast" Macy started things off by going the length of the ice, unassisted. As she approached the net, Sammy spotted a crack down low and slid the puck under the flopping goaltender. In the third period, Scotty Capraro found himself alone in the slot with a clean look at the net. Scotty too, went low and though the goalie got a piece of it, the shot still had enough zip to find its way into the net. Unfortunately, Triton managed to battle back and force yet another tie.

Tewksbury vs Lexington/Bedford

Tewksbury jumped all over Lexington/Bedford with three first period goals. Matt "Chip Shot" Bruno flipped one up and over the upright goaltender, unassisted. Coach Macy petitioned the officials to award Matt three points for a field goal, but was denied. Timmy Sheehan and Sean O'Hare broke down the right wing with Timmy ultimately driving home a low, hard wrist shot. Matt Bruno struck again as he battled in front for his second goal of the period. Matt's goal was the end result of a great rush up ice by Joey Ginsburg.

Tim Sheehan sent Marc Legere and Sean O'Hare in on a two on one. Mark used Sean as a decoy to lock off the lone defender, then ripped a wrist shot far side from the left faceoff circle. Timmy "Trick Shot" Sheehan added his second goal as he banked one in off the goaltender from a virtually impossible angle. Timmy's goal was assisted by Sean "Where's my Playmaker patch":) O'Hare. With the game well in hand, we played a little see how the other half lives as Bobby Bennett and Joey Ginsburg moved up and Jeremy Booth and Scotty Capraro dropped back on D.

Except for a one minute, three goal stretch at the end of the second period, the Redmen played the powerful Wildcats dead even. OK, maybe the Wildcats had a distinct advantage in quality scoring opportunities, but Billy Stuart was clearly up to the challenge with each save flasher than the one preceding it. Billy even dusted off his signature poke check.

And, even though they were undermanned (under-womaned actually, as Sammy and Katie were missing) the defensive corps of Bobby Bennett, Timmy "Ziti" Dooley, Joey Ginsburg and Kevin Lyons kept the slot clear. This game got pretty rough at times, but the Redmen didn't give up any ground to the physical Wildcats.

We did get a moral victory as Kevin "Enforcer" Lyons foiled the shutout with a rocket from the point with just eight seconds left in the game. The game sheet listed Marc Legere as sliding the puck to Kevin, but Sean O'Hare's claim that he actually made that pass stood up to a post game lie detector session.

With the playoffs next, the Redmen will be looking to building on this week's success at "staying wide" on offense and "playing the body" on defense.

Thomann a New England champ

When Tewksbury resident Meghan Thomann stepped away from the free throw line at Elm Street Junior High in Nashua, she walked away as a New England Regional champion in the 8-9 year old girls division of the annual Elks Hoop Shoot.

The St. Augustine's fourth grader, representing Lowell Elks Lodge No. 87, sank 23 of 25 foul shots (92 percent) in the Regionals.

Having previously captured local, district and Massachusetts state honors, Thomann earned he place among the 72 free throw finalists who will compete for national honors April 27-30 in Springfield.

The six national age-group winners will have their names engraved on a plaque in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield.

The two overall winners (best percentage of all national shooters) will receive the prestigious Getty Powell Award and will be invited to the National Elks Convention in Dallas.

The Hoop Shoot Contest, which is nearly 30 years old, drew a nationwide field of three million participants with the eliminations beginning on the local level last fall.

Mite II's battle hard

In game one, the Redmen faced off against Nashua. Tewksbury dominated play throughout the entire game, leading 3-0 heading into the third. They notched three more third period goals with Nashua scoring one, for a final score of 6-1. Danny Rose had two goals, Ryan Doherty, Paul Tosto, Cody Legro and Andrew Lee each contributed one, and defensemen Evan Cutelis and Shawn Bradley were each credited with an assist.

Game two ended in an 11-0 shutout victory against Newburyport. Paul Tosto had three goals, Keith McCarthy had two goals, one assist; Cameron Doherty and Shawn Bradley had one goal, one assist; Cody Legro, John Arcari, Cory O'Brien and George Barnes each had one goal and Andrew Lee, Evan Cutelis and Chris Tully all picked up an assist.

The Redmen met Northern Berkshire in game three. Tewksbury won by a 7-2 score, but the game was actually much closer than the score indicates. After a scoreless first, Tewksbury went ahead 2-0 in the second, but in the third, Berkshire tied things up with two quick goals. Tewksbury then cranked up the offensive jets and scored five times in the final six minutes of the game. Paul Tosto had a hat trick, Danny Rose had two goals, one assist, John Arcari and Shawn Donovan each had a goal, Cameron Doherty had two assists, and Ryan Doherty, Evan Cutelis and Chris Tully each had an assist.

Canadian scoring was used to determine which teams would make it into the championship game. The Redmen received 14 1/2 points out of a possible 15, which was the most received by any team (33 tams total) in the entire tournament. They played Nashua in the championship.

Nashua took a 1-0 lead in the first but Tewksbury came back to go ahead 2-1 heading into the second. Nashua tied things up 2-2 with three minute left in the second period.

At the 8:05 mark of the third, Paul Tosto broke in and fired home the game winner. He also sealed the victory with an empty netter with two minutes to go in the game. Andrew Lee and Cameron Doherty had the other Tewksbury goals. Cory O'Brien had two assists, and Arcari, Donovan, and Rose earned one assist. Paul Tosto was awarded the game MVP for his efforts.

The outstanding efforts of goalie Robbie Pappagianopoulos in the Tewksbury net certainly did not go unnoticed. Nashua and No. Berkshire had a couple of very good players who put the pressure eon, but only to be denied by Pappagianopoulos who, as always came up big for the Redmen, throughout the entire tournament.

Next weekend will mark the end of an unforgettable season for the Mite II's who's big test will be during the playoffs as they will be contenders for both the Dual State and Valley League championships.

Congratulations are extended to the following Tewksbury Mite II Players who have been selected to play for the Valley Jr. Warriors during the 2000-2001 season: Robbie Pappagianopoulos (Squirt Minor), George Barnes and Andrew Lee (Mite). Great job guys!!

Squirt C's continue hot trend into playoffs

The Tewksbury Squirt C hockey team claimed back-to-back wins on Sunday April 9th by defeating Methuen 3-1 and shutting out Peabody 2-0, increasing their undefeated streak to fifteen games!

Robert Cuzzi scored two goals in the 6:00 am game against Methuen proving that he can pour it on at any hour of the day. The first was a beautiful back-handed shot at 9:01 in the second period on a pass from Chris Mugford.

At 10:08 in the third period, Joshua Silberberg passed the puck up the middle to Danny Duby, Duby flew past the Methuen defense and faked out the goalie to up Tewksbury's lead to 2-0.

Methuen scored one minute later on a delayed penalty call, but goaltender Mike Procacini and defensemen James Duffy, Brett Little, Chris DiIorio, Joshua Silberberg, Chris Mugford and Danny Duby held off Methuen for the remainder of the game. Cuzzi scored the final goal, an empty-netter with five seconds left in the game to secure the 3-1 victory over Methuen.

The Squirt C team faced off against Peabody one hour later, taking advantage of their momentum they posted a 2-0 shutout. Goaltender Mike Procacini was superb in net while Anthony Moccia, Kevin Swansburg, Robert Cuzzi, Brian Kapust, Neil Marino, Rollie Jenkins and Justin O'Brien were on a fierce offensive attack skating sharp setting up plays. Both teams skated strong holding each other scoreless for the first half of the game.

At 5:17 in the second period, Jonhenry Holt maneuvered past the Peabody defense on a pass from James Duffy and blasted a shot into the corner to give Tewksbury the 1-0 lead. Peabody put the offensive pressure on, but Procacini made one immense save after another to end the second period at 1-0.

At 6:06 in the third period Danny Duby out-muscled the Peabody defense at the blue line, went in alone on the Peabody netminder and roofed it to up the Tewksbury lead to 2-0. The Squirt C team held off Peabody for the remainder of the game earning the 2-0 shutout, their second victory of the morning, and their 15 game undefeated streak. These Redmen are on a roll right into the playoffs!

Northeast Metro Tech goes International

British private school teacher goes into the classroom

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

There are some laughs over the difference in language, but the students at the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School are also getting an international education from exchange teacher William Roques, a business studies and economics teacher at Bearwood College in Wokingham, England.

As an example, Roques will ask students to pronounce three words - missile hostile and debris. In England the first two have a long i in the last syllable and the third has a pronounced s.

In fact it is hard to tell who is getting the most education as Rogues (pronounced Rock) admits to being surprised at the high level of studies and good work ethic he is finding in the students.

"The level of what they are doing here is better than my boys," Roques said of the students he is working with in the Electronic Accounting program at Metro Tech.

"This is my first time teaching in an American classroom," said Roques, a five year veteran of English classrooms.

Bearwood is about 40 miles west of London in Berkshire (Barkshire) County. Roques describes the school as "very relaxed," as opposed to the perception Americans have of English boarding schools being stodgy and stiff. He admits that some of the private schools are like that.

Bearwood, a merchant navy school, is set on 500 acres of land and houses about 250 students from ages 11 to 18.

Noting the relaxed atmosphere of the school, Roques said, "It has a bar and two golf courses."

However, the day that starts at 8 a.m. and goes to 6:30 p.m. is quite a bit longer than the American school day.

"The school day is longer," Roques said. "It is not just work, sports and chess (and other extracurricular) are included. I would say 'all work and no play makes a student a bit dull."

At Bearwood, the evening is set aside for homework.

Of the many things that have impressed Roques about the students at Metro Tech, is their work ethic and independence.

"I thought I could teach them about independent study," he said.

He also likes the interaction between teacher and students in the classroom.

According to Roques, "There is a much more relaxed attitude in the classroom.

"The teachers are very approachable, but they can turn it off when they want to."

He notes that the want to shut off the approachability is usually set off by some type of inattention that may take over the classroom.

Roques is familiar with the United States and Greater Boston from having worked at Hudson General Aviation in Logan Airport during summer vacations from his schooling in England.

He has, over the years, also become friendly with his host, Ed Murray, a Wakefield resident. As a result, he was able to come here for study of the differences in the school systems that is being paid in part by Bearwood and in part by the school's Alumni Association.

According to Roques, it is hoped that the schools can establish an exchange program with both students and faculty.

"One of the things I will report on to my school," Roques said, is the level they (the Metro Tech students) work on is very high."

One of the things that impressed him about Metro Tech is the fact that a student from the school had earned an academic scholarship to Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"The reason I'm here (in America) is because of this place," Roques said of the school.

He voiced his feeling that the perception in both Great Britain and in the United States is, " vocational schools are for people who can't handle high schools. It is the other way around, high schools are for people who can't handle vocational schools."

According to Roques, England needs more vocational training and the people should have a better respect for the students. He noted his opinion that the English economy would be better off if the industries had

ANTHONY MANCONI

Folks, just because we've had a beautiful warm spring day that's no reason to take off the winter underwear. My late Uncle John Shea wouldn't change to summer shorts until June because of this inscription he read years ago, "Beneath this STONE and CLUMP of Clay, lies Uncle Peter Daniels. Who early in the month of May, took off his Winter Flannels."

"Why so sad Mario, asked. He replied, "my wife, ran off with my best friend and, I MISS HIM!"

Blackie Vega wants his daughter to marry a, "Millionaire with a lot of MONEY.

Dolores Zankowski asked her handsome husband Tony, "are you sure this ring you bought me for our anniversary is real GOLD?" Tony smiled and said, "Well if it isn't, I'm OUT a BUCK and a HALF."

Business is looking up folks, I read that Firestone had a Goodyear.

more workers trained in vocational schools.

Roques noted that one of the teachers he is working with in the Electronic Accounting program has a doctorate in philosophy and worked on the space program designing payloads for missiles.

Looking at the Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System (MCAS) tests, Roques believes that it is good for the students. He likes the test because much of the scoring weight is placed on the reasoning a student uses to arrive at an answer and not just the answer itself.

Comparing the MCAS to the tests used in England, Roques said, "In England the test is very tough but it is outcome based."

He explained that the students have time to research their answers so that if the the research is correct they can pass the test and go on to university.

According to Roques the system has only been in place for the past five years. Before that time the education system was not as focused.

Another difference is that the students at Bearwood specialize in their courses during the last two years of schooling and may study only three subjects.

"You have to have some kind of standards," Roques said in support of the testing system in both countries.

One area where the students seem to at ther same level is in the use of the computer.

"I could walk out of my classroom and into your classroom and the students would be doing the same thing," he said.

Roques also feels that the students are alike in both countries regarding their fears, attitudes and interests.

During his visit, which started last Wednesday and will continue through Friday, Roques has also had the opportunity to see the renovated Dolbeare School in Wakefield.

"It was alive ad buzzing," he said.

Although the school is at the elementary level, he will be bringing one of the exercises back to his students. He had observed a classroom where the assignment was for the students to write a piece describing what another student in the class is like.

"There is something strange," Roques said, "I don't think that the lads and lasses know where England is."

It is his theory that Americans do not get to travel as much outside of the country. He noted that in Europe the average worker has four week vacation as opposed to the two weeks of the American worker.

Roques will definitely bring a perception of English being outgoing and friendly to the students he is working with. However, he describes his countrymen as reserved and not as friendly and courteous as he is finding people, including the students, in this country.

Chris Corbelle told me that there are exactly 239 Bake Beans in a can because, if one more is added it makes them to forty.

George Gould has four beautiful daughters. One night he answered the phone then said, "No, this isn't DREAMBOAT I'm more like the SUPPLY-SHIP!"

When Architect Harold Turiello told my cousin Lena that it would cost 18 thousand dollars to remodel her house, she exclaimed, "MY!" I didn't think it would cost that much. Do you think it is worth having it done?" Harold replied, 'I'll ask you only one question, how are your neighbors?"

Lena said, "I couldn't ask for any better, they are all wonderful." Harold smiled and said, "it's worth it, believe me." Folks, Good Neighbors are a BLESSING.

"Behold the turtle. If it doesn't stick it's neck out-it will get no-where." Conant former President of Harvard...

Dennis Tully told the judge, "I was talking with my girl friend when that man rapped on the telephone booth door and shouted for me to get out, he wanted to use the phone. When I didn't move, he opened the door, grabbed me and threw me OUT." "I see," the judge said, "is that when the fight started?" "No, your HONOR, it started when he reached in, grabbed my girlfriend and threw her out Too!"

Kathy sent me a note, "Chipper, please come back home soon, the kids miss you, the dog misses you and, with Spring Planting soon, even the GARDEN will need a WORM LIKE YOU!"

Jimmy Bruce said to me, "Chipper, I read your column every week and if brains were dynamite you wouldn't have enough to blow your nose!"

Folks, you'll believe that Jimmy Bruce is right after you read the next Chip. Religion is as free as the water we drink. I know, I know they are always asking for money at church and the water bills are high, but Folks, what we really have to pay for is the, "PIPING."

I love to travel to foreign lands, especially Brooklyn, New York. Last summer I said to a cabbie, "333 Third Avenue please." "He turned and asked, "do youse means, Tree Hunret and Thoity Tree Thoid Avenue?" Then he added, "youse peoples from Bawston sure moider the mudder tung." Gee, I sure hope former English Teacher Miss Sullivan doesn't read that Chip.

I took Kathy out to DeMaino's Restaurant for dinner. She ordered steak, which she got right away. I ordered a, "Half-a-Chicken." I called the beautiful waitress over after a long wait and asked, "what's the delay?" She smiled and replied, "the cook told me to tell you that he can't kill half-a chicken. You'll have to wait until someone else orders the other half!"

Kathy and I first met in the revolving doors of Filene's and we've been going around and around ever since. I saw her later in the Bargain Basement buying pantyhose to wear around the house. Her size would just about fit, "Around" the house.

After having a few drinks at the Beachmont V.F.W. Club I belched. Tony Stack shouted, "Chipper, how dare you belch before my wife!" "I'm sorry Tony," I said, "I apologize, I didn't know it was your wife's turn to belch."

Some men carry a card in their wallet that says, "In case of an accident, call a priest." Frank LeMoure has done so much volunteer work for charity, he believes he deserves "VIP Privileges. Frank carries a card that says, "In case of an accident call a Bishop."

If wishes were horses...

Wishing hard in Lynnfield

"Robert J. Hand of Lynnfield has been elected as the President of the Board of Directors of the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Greater Boston (MAWFGB)," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"Hand began his first one-year term as president this fall.

"The Make-A-Wish Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to fulfilling the dreams of children between the ages of two and a half and 18 who are diagnosed with life-threatening illnesses.

"Hand began his volunteer involvement with the Make-A-Wish Foundation in 1994, when he was elected as a member of the Board of Directors. He has served as chairperson of the Foundation's marketing committee as well as a member of the development committee.

"As president of MAWFGB, Hand will institute a three-year strategic initiative to ready the organization for the century. Hand stated the Board of Directors will focus on its community outreach efforts to reach more eligible wish children in the Chapter's territory as well as financial planning. In addition, Hand noted last fall the Make-A-Wish Foundation of America expanded its eligibility criteria for children participating in the wish-granting program. Since Nov. 1998, the Boston Chapter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation has seen a thirty percent increase in the number of wishes granted.

"'Bob brings to Make-A-Wish a great deal of applicable professional experience and a long history of volunteer support which have proven to be invaluable to our Chapter,' Executive Director of MAWFGB Charlotte Beattie said in a prepared statement. 'We look forward to his leadership and vision as president as we strive to provide many more wishes for our special wish children.'

"Hand is Senior Vice President, Corporate Marketing for Fleet Boston Financial. He resides in Lynnfield with his wife, Suzanne and their two children...."

"What in the World Is It?" new maze at Stone Zoo

Wind your way down a path of animal discovery in a new giant maze at the Stone-Zoo in Stoneham, on April 15 at 10 am for the opening of "What in the World Is It?"

This temporary exhibit created by Seattle-based Minotaur Amusements, will run through September. Hidden inside the maze are five mystery animal stations, which represent animals found at Stone Zoo. Zoo guests can employ colorful CLUE panels and repeating sound tracks to guess which animal each station represents. Once they have identified the animal, maze adventurers stamp its image onto a world map game card that they can take home. After they discover all of the animals in the maze, young explorers will enjoy trying to find their way out!

The new maze is one of several exhibits to enjoy at Stone Zoo. Summer hours are 10 am to 5 pm weekdays and 10 am to 6 pm weekends and holidays. Admission $3 adults; $2.50 seniors and $2 for children aged 2-15. Children under 2 are admitted for free. For more information, call 781-438-5100.

"Shapedown" teaches youth how to live healthy

Obesity is the number one form of malnutrition in children and teens. Overweight young people face negative medical and psychosocial effects of their weight, from hypertension and respiratory problems to peer teasing and low self-esteem. According to medical professionals, the best way to counteract child and adolescent obesity is through a supportive and active family lifestyle.

Hallmark Health now offers "SHAPEDOWN," a family-based program to help young people aged 6 to 18 change their eating and exercise habits, improve their self-esteem and lose unwanted pounds. "SHAPEDOWN" will host a free orientation session for parents and children on Wednesday, April 19, 4 to 6 pm at Hallmark Health/Lawrence Memorial Campus. The orientation will provide an overview of the program and the opportunity to register.

Group meetings of "SHAPEDOWN" at Hallmark Health will meet weekly for 10 weeks on Wednesdays, 4 to 6 pm at Hallmark Health/Lawrence Memorial Campus, beginning April 26. Groups, which are age appropriate, are led by a registered dietitian and an exercise physiologist who also received clinical education in child and adolescent obesity.

The cost of "SHAPEDOWN" may be reimbursable by insurances; interested participants should talk to their insurance provider. For more information about "SHAPEDOWN" or to register for classes, call 781-306-6571.

Lifestyle program for weight control

When you list all the "miracle" diets, metabolism "builders" and weight loss "quick fix" solutions on the market, you'd think we'd all be lean and fit. But we're not.

"According to recent studies, over one half of America ranks as overweight or obese. But we keep buying into fad diets anyhow, because we dieters are in a constant search for the ONE 'magic' diet that will cure our dysfunctional relationship with food" says Jennifer Klein, a diet specialitst who lost 70 pounds herself.

"We long for that one diet that will provide the control we so desperately need, the one diet that will help us lose weight and keep it off forever" add Kelin.

So, we listen to "high protein" diet proponents who claim carbohydrates "disrupt the balance of sugars and the production of insulin, thus promoting weight gain." They tell us to "Eat the burger, leave the roll. Eat the steak, but don't touch that potato". You probably hear this everywhere. It's all the rage. It's on the news, on talk shows. And these diet "formula" books consistently make the "best seller" lists.

Why are these diets all the rage? Because people are losing weight. Why are they losing weight? Because high protein diets work for one reason: drastic calorie reduction. A typical high protein diet supplies your body with between 850-1100 calories per day. You WILL lose weight, but the long-term effects can be damaging. Eating so few calories.. "sets off the body's 'I'm starving' survival alarm, which reduces metabolic rate by 10 to 15% or even more." says Roland Weinsier, M.D., a professor and chair of the Department of Nutrition Sciences at the University of Alabama.

It's not the miracle of protein - "eat the cheese, leave the crackers" it's the overall REDUCTION of calories that result in weight loss.

The sale of this theory keeps generating millions of dollars for the diet industry. It has for over 40 years! That's right, this high protein "formula" stuff isn't new. It started with "The Stillman Diet" in the 1960's. Dr. Atkins published his first "high protein" diet book in the 1970's. This "cure" they promise, for America's weight problem just keeps getting repackaged and sold over and over again.

Too bad it doesn't work.

Jennifer Klein comments "Oh, I know, everybody knows somebody who's lost lots of weight on these diets. But how many people do you know who have kept the weight off? That's the question that's most important."

"You can lose as much weight as you want with these fad diets, though you may be putting your health at risk while you do it" adds Klein.

"When carb calories are cut drastically", says John P. Foreyt, Ph.D., Director of the Nutrition Research Clinic at Baylor College of Medicine, "the body starts burning fatty acids for fuel: these release into the bloodstream chemicals called ketones that could cause headaches, dizziness, fatigue, nausea, and bad breath. Too much protein can also tax the kidneys, which go into overdrive trying to process and excrete the nitrogen in protein. "Over time, this might cause permanent damage.

But looking great means more to many of us than how we treat our bodies.

Carbohydrates are NOT the enemy. The types and amounts of food we choose; "empty", "hollow", nutritionally worthless "fillers" are at the root of our problem. America is eating chips, fries, sweets, fats, because we like "fast" "easy" "convenient" food. A combination of large portions, lack of "balanced" eating, and moving too little is the real problem.

Says Klein, "I have yet to meet a weight loss client who overeats vegetables, fruits, whole grains, or brown rice; the nutritious, high fiber healthy category of carbohydrates. These carbohydrates usually take some preparation time. We don't stop for that. We rarely have time with our hectic schedules to plan healthy, balanced meals. We make our schedules the priority. We forget that our good health and nutrition should rank #1."

Labeling one energy nutrient (carbohydrate, fat, protein) as the "problem" is wrong. You will succeed at weight loss when you develop a "lifestyle plan". Eat food in balance. Learn to stop eating when you've had enough. Take walks, move more-it's that simple.

Losing weight isn't the toughest part of a diet. Keeping the weight from coming back is the tough part."

Says Klein "I eat carbohydrates and I've lost over seventy pounds and KEPT IT OFF for over eight years. But I also rode that diet merry-go-round for many years before I learned how to eat properly and fit regular exercise in my life."

Klein continues, "The answer to your weight loss problems can be found in a balanced lifestyle; moderate exercise, healthy eating and a commitment to yourself. This practical approach to weight loss works, and it can change your life forever."

MIDDLESEX EAST appearing in Daily Times - Chronicle (Reading, Woburn, Winchester, Burlington, Wakefield), Lynnfield Villager, Reading Update, No. Reading Transcript, Wilmington & Tewksbury Town Crier, Stoneham Independent

School Notes
by Phyllis Nissen

Net gains, tongue twisters, family ties

Gateway to Tewksbury

A lot has changed since you were in high school, even if you were a gradrate of Ninety-something, and especially if you remember using a typewriter in class," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"This summer we purchased 20 new Gateway computers for our high school environment,' announces Tewksbury Memorial High School Principal Anthony Romano. 'Our building has been wired for Internet for a couple of years now, so in that time it had always just been a question of when and how we could get the proper equipment for it. Through the efforts of our business manager Jack Quinn and (Superintendent of Schools) Dr. Christine McGrath we were able to find somebody to support us in that area. Now these new computers are being used by the administrators and the guidance department and the teachers and their students.'

"Teachers can even use these new computers to report attendance each period. Gone are the days when teachers had only their trusty handbooks to refer to when seeking attendance records taken in homeroom. If, God forbid, there was now ever an incident in which the students and faculty had to evacuate the building, administrators would be able to access attendance records on a period-to-period basis. Such accessibility is useful in determining various information regarding who was where and when.

"The Larrabee Library at the high school will be joining the Gateway Revolution next year when 36 such computers will hopefully be included in the school's upcoming budget. In the meantime, students at the library can gain Internet access through the reliable assistance of MACs and IBMs.

"'We hope to change the library a bit and introduce the concept of a learning center,' says Romano. 'We hope to put about 24 of the new computers near the front of the library, and then use the rest of them to create three or four learning stations....'"

Language arts in Winchester

"The School Committee voted unanimously in favor of changes to the elementary school language arts curriculum, adopting the recommendations made by a district-wide committee," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The language arts committee of about 20 teachers, reading teachers and speech language specialists, met for about 60 hours over the summer and periodically last fall. They worked in two groups, kindergarten through grade three and grades three to five, with some input from sixth grade teachers.

"Assistant Superintendent Dr. Steven Foster said the cost of the program isn't finalized because teachers are still attending vendor presentations and not all the class materials have been selected. What is clear is a working consensus of desired outcomes for language, literature, composition and media skills.

"Besides establishing appropriate goals for each grade level, Foster said the curriculum links from one grade to the next up until the students join each other at Winchester Middle School.

"'This will pay dividends in grade six,' Foster said. 'If we have a common curriculum that's well-defined all the students will come in with the same background.'

"School Committee members had questions about how well the program prepares students for the Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System exams for students in grades four, eight and ten. Administrators said the program will result in good MCAS scores, but the test is not the driving force.

"Superintendent Dr. Carol Eaton explained, 'we want them to learn not just so they can excel at MCAS, but so they will know the skills.'

"Ambrose third-grade teacher Tara Kenyon, a member of the committee, said the group looked at other districts and wrote the curriculum to align with state standards but the main focus was to get teachers from all five elementary schools on the same page...."

Ice picks in North Reading

"Hockey is definitely a family affair at North Reading High School," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Twelve of the 26 members of the 1999-2000 Hornet hockey team are related.

"This year's 26-member hockey roster consists of five pairs of brothers, including two sets of twins, and a couple of first cousins.

"Additionally, six other team members have older brothers who played Hornet hockey over the past few years, while a couple of others have brothers who plan to join the team within the next year or two.

"Even Coach Paul Calvino, himself a Hornet alumnus, played hockey for the home town team alongside older brother Jim in the early 90s. The two still spend time at the rink together as Jim now serves as one of the team's assistant coaches.

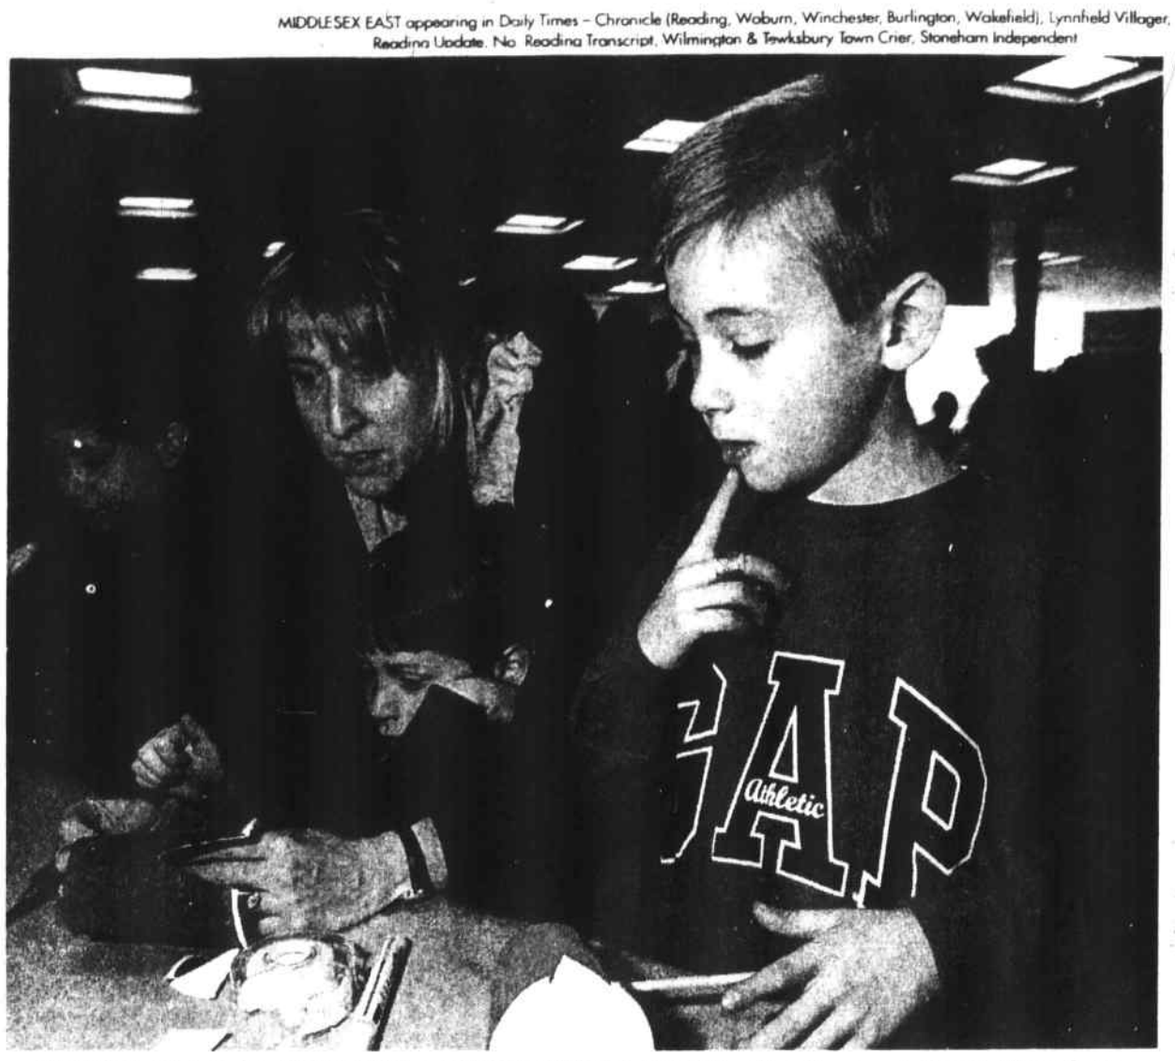

"All of this brotherly love may be one of the reasons this plucky hockey team had one of its better seasons.

"As far as most of the hockey players are concerned, playing with a brother is nothing new. They have skated together since they first picked up sticks as players in North Reading's Youth Hockey program a decade or so before.

"Interestingly, in each of the team's two sets of twins, one brother plays offense, the other defense, thus eliminating any direct competition for slots - and possible disintegration of family harmony.

"Identical twins, sophomores Mark and Scott Vaughan, are indistinguishable on the street but easy to tell apart on the ice as Mark plays center forward and Scott is a defensive threat.

"Fraternal twins A.J. (defense) and Matt Gurry (right wing), both senior starters, also don't have to worry about competing with one another...."

AT THE ALL-DAY ARTS FAIR AT CREATIVE ARTS in the Congregational Church in Reading, Josh Gordon, 7, Mom Leslie Gordon, Eric Gordon, 4 and Andrew Tighe, 6, all of North Reading try their hands at designing projects. (Don Young photo)

recently to go over the plans for the event, which will be held from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 29.

"'We'd like to get started a little earlier than usual this year, so we're not running around for the last two weeks,' said Ward 5 Alderman Paul Medeiros.

"While Earth Day is April 22, the committee decided to hold the event a week later, to avoid a conflict with Easter, which this year falls on April 23.

"The Woburn Mall has worked well as a site in the past. Formerly it was hosted at Woburn High.

"'We get people who go to the mall to shop as well as people who come (to the event),' said Medeiros.

"The program is intended not only for Woburn residents, but also for those from surrounding communities. Subcommittee members intend to contact town managers from throughout the area.

"Usual participants are the Mass. Organic Pharmacists, a magician whose act is geared toward teaching kids how to recycle, and a band 'Earth Tunes.' The Woburn School Department will also be involved.

"There will also be T-shirts and tree sales (the latter by the Conservation Committee) along with a free raffle. The committee will be contacting local businesses for donations.

"'It costs nothing to run it, and it costs nothing for people to set up,' said Medeiros. 'But we do need to solicit donations to pay for the band....'"

Horsing around in Burlington

"The Town of Burlington has over 250 acres of Conservation land, 200 of which have extensive trail systems," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

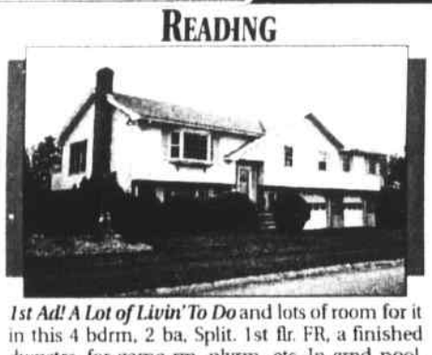

"The Conservation Commission encourages the use of this property for hiking, observation of wildlife, cross country skiing and other low impact activities. Concerns have recently surfaced regarding damage by excessive equestrian use and waste accumulation from the horses on the trails. In order to ride on the Town of Burlington Conservation Area, permits need to be granted from the Burlington Conservation Commission. Currently, there are no records of issued permits at the Conservation office.

"For questions concerning the access equestrian permits, history or use of Burlington's Conservation Areas, contact the Town's Conservation Department at (781)270-1655.
